INSTALL NEW LEADERS AT ELABORATE SERVICES

Hold Impressive Ceremonies
At Masonic Temple for
Omar Shrine Officers

ONE of the largest gatherings to witness an installation ceremony in Glendale featured the installation of officers of Omar Shrine, No. 9, White Shrine of Jerusalem, in the Masonic Temple last night. For the ceremonial the hall had been beautifully decorated with asparagus fern and countless baskets of spring flowers.

These decorations provided an artistic background for the large company of Glendale members and friends, and guests from Pasadena, Los Angeles, Long Beach and Hollywood, and for the Glendale officers and installing corps seated in the form of a cross for the ceremony.

At the close of the ceremonial and the proclamation by Emma Bell Kuttler, supreme worthy herald, that the officers were fully installed, several compliments followed.

Recipients of Gifts
Alvah H. Leland, retiring watchman of the shepherds, presented Orma V. Naudain, retiring worthy high priestess with the Shrine insignia, a gold lavalliere set with diamonds and pearls and bearing the Shrine badge. Then Mrs. Naudain presented Mr. Leland with the Shrine badge, bearing the emblem of the order in diamonds and pearls.

Mrs. Naudain was also the recipient of a gold case for her lodge receipt, presented by Mr. Leland. In turn, Mrs. Naudain presented him with a silver case for his lodge card.

Sarah Frances Leland was the retiring queen and on her behalf Mrs. Naudain presented the queen's attendants with gifts.

Hear Addresses
The gift from the Shrine to Mrs. Naudain was a large art basket presented by Evelyn G. Pierce, newly installed worthy high priestess. This basket was placed in the center of the hall and as the retiring officers entered each placed two yellow jonquils in the basket, which was later given a prominent place on the platform.

Mr. Vesper, the retiring chaplain, was the recipient of a lavalliere.

Among the speeches given during the evening were ones by William G. Wisner, supreme watchman of the shepherds of Hollywood; W. W. Worley of Glendale, and D. Ripley Jackson of Glendale.

FAIR WEATHER

The weather forecast for next week on the Pacific coast is "generally fair."

Carnarvon Death Causes Return of Egyptian Relics

LONDON, April 7. — A wave of superstition is spreading through part of England as a result of the strange death of Lord Carnarvon, discoverer of the tomb of Tut-Ank-Amen. The belief on the part of some superstitious persons that Lord Carnarvon was the victim of an ancient curse for disturbing a pharaoh has led many possessors of Egyptian relics to get rid of them.

According to the Daily Express, the British museum is inundated with an avalanche of parcels, mostly anonymous, containing portions of Egyptian art works, and money taken from mummy crypts. Superstitious owners are anxious to get rid of them fearing "the violence of the pharaohs."

In view of Lord Carnarvon's intense interest in Egyptology, it is probable that Lady Carnarvon may advance money to continue explorations in the Valley of the Kings. The concession granted to Lord Carnarvon and Howard Carter to excavate for old tombs still has a number of years to run.

Work of examining the inner chamber of Tut-Ank-Amen's tomb will be continued in the autumn and, according to plans, the mummy of the ancient king who ruled thirty centuries before Christ will be removed.

Members of the royal family and prominent persons in all walks of life have sent messages of condolence to Lady Carnarvon and Lord Portchester, son of the explorer.

Lands Navy Seaplane In Pool 3 Feet Deep

WASHINGTON, April 7. — A daring aerial feat was successfully accomplished here when Lieutenant David Rittenhouse of the navy landed a seaplane in the shallow pool adjoining the Lincoln memorial Potomac park. The pool is 150 feet wide and the water only three feet deep.

Rittenhouse took on dispatches from the navy department and hopped off for Langley field, Va. SHE 2

Photographs of Dead Spirits Are Displayed

NEW YORK, April 7. — American spiritualistic circles were stirred today as never before by photographs of spirits of the dead, flashed upon a screen last night by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle at the conclusion of a lecture on spiritualism. Gasps of fear and amazement swept through the audience. Women cried out and one of them fainted.

The photographs, two in number, were taken by a woman medium in the vast crowd which gathered about the cenotaph in London on Armistice day when thousands who had lost relatives in the war gathered to pay their respects to the memory of the dead. A group of mediums had been placed in the crowd and the camera was focused just above their heads.

The first photograph showed a whitish blur, which, Sir Arthur explained, was the gathering of psychic forces. The second showed the blur dotted with the features of dead soldiers of whom loved ones were thinking. The woman who fainted was Mary Hess, a medium. Sir Arthur said he was not surprised that a person so responsive to psychic forces should be overcome. The photographs will be shown with Sir Arthur's lectures.

Burns Joins In Hunt For Gerald Chapman

ATLANTA, April 7. — William J. Burns, head of the bureau of investigation in the department of justice, in Atlanta on a swing from Florida to Chicago, today joined with state and federal officers in the search for the incorrigible fugitive, Gerald Chapman.

With T. J. Bailey, head of the secret service, southern division, Burns started his search by an investigation of the first of Chapman's breaks, at the federal penitentiary.

Former Governor Cox Buys Florida Paper

WEST PALM BEACH, April 7. — Reports were received here today that ex-Governor Cox of Ohio, Democratic presidential candidate in 1920, had purchased the Miami Metropolis, an afternoon newspaper, for a price between $400,000 and $500,000.

Dance Their Way To World Record And New Shoes

NEW YORK, April 7. — Tired and weary, but triumphant, Brian Molloy and Jack Butler, dancing instructors, danced their way today to the top pinnacle of the world's dancing record. At 10 o'clock this morning they stopped after thirty-six hours and thirteen minutes of non-stop dancing. Both retired from the floor in good condition. The woman wore out two pair of shoes and the man one. The world's record hitherto had been 33 hours and 15 minutes, achieved by a Frenchman.

HUNT CLEWS IN DEATHS OF TWO

Murdered Girls' Past Lives
Lives Checked Up by Police of Two Cities

NEW YORK, April 7. — Detectives here and in Jersey City today continued a search along the primrose path followed by Mrs. Irene Blandino, wife of a Jersey City barber, and Miss Bessie McMahon, of Utica, N. Y., her chum, whose brutally mutilated bodies were found early yesterday morning by a milk wagon driver by a lonely roadside on Staten Island.

The search led them to dance halls where they believed they would find men who had escorted the young women on their nightly expeditions.

In the arrest last night in Jersey City of Alfred Montelaro, longshoreman, the police learned that the young women were not at all conventional in selecting companions for their orgies. Montelaro is being detained as a material witness.

Montelaro told police he met the two women on a Jersey City street, and they walked along together until another man drove along in an automobile.

The women, he said, asked to be taken for a ride. The owner of the car, Joseph Padizo, of Jersey City, agreed and the four drove about several hours.

Hunt For Motive
Detectives were checking back over Mrs. Blandino's and Miss McMahon's careers to find a possible motive for the crime. Several years ago, detectives said, Mrs. Blandino lived in Newark with a Sicilian, but excited the admiration of Frank Bongiovanni. Bongiovanni induced the Sicilian to go to Buffalo and during his absence married the woman. Shortly afterwards Bongiovanni was found in the street suffering from many stab wounds and a few days afterward died in a hospital.

Police now are seeking the Sicilian whose name they refuse to reveal. Word that "startling developments" were expected before evening in the investigation came from the office of District Attorney Maloy at Staten Island this morning.

Mexican Rubber May Break British 'Trust'

WASHINGTON, April 7. — Rubber as well as oil today became a factor in the problem of Mexican recognition as American officials investigating the rubber situation awoke to the possibilities of the southern republic as a means of defeating the British rubber monopoly of the East Indies.

Mexico has a vast area of land suitable for growing several varieties of rubber, and the Mexican government is ready to co-operate with American experts or American capital in the exploitation of these facilities, according to Manuel Tellez, charge d'affaires of the Mexican embassy here.

The transplanted India rubber tree grows in abundance in practically the whole of the humid regions south of Vera Cruz. Senator Tellez declared the successful operation of a number of plantations there is ample proof of the suitability of the soil and climate for its cultivation.

Organize Green Peas Against Cruel Co-Eds

BERKELEY, Cal., April 7. — And now comes the "royal and mystic order of the green pea." The latest secret society has been formed on the University of California campus by discarded fiancées.

Its object, according to George Smith, its president, is to fight the wiles of cruel co-eds who play up to men students only to cast them aside.

The constitution of the order defines a "green pea" as one "who has had a hard fall, who has suffered at the hands of woman, a man who has been jilted in love." The constitution provides also that the "greenest of the green peas" shall automatically become president.

SPLIT COMES ON INQUIRY INTO RISE IN SUGAR

Department of Commerce to Take No Further Part in Probe, Announced

By GEORGE E. DURNO
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, April 7. — Alleging that the government's investigation of high sugar prices has departed from the field of economics and has branched off into a wordy battle between Republican defenders and Democratic opponents of the tariff, the department of commerce will take no further part in the inquiry, it was learned today.

In the meantime, however, the department of justice will continue its investigation under the criminal conspiracy laws, until President Harding has an opportunity to consider the evidence already assembled by Acting Attorney General Augustus Seymour.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover and other officials of his department are said to be alarmed over the political debate that has broken out between the national committees of the Republican and Democratic parties over the import duty on sugar, feeling that it will be difficult to find who is responsible for recent increases in prices while this argument is in progress.

No Direct Evidence

Hoover has requested Stephen B. Davis, Jr., solicitor of the commerce department, to co-operate with the department of justice in its price probe, but no additional participation is anticipated.

The department of justice has been unable thus far to find any direct evidence of manipulation of the sugar market as a result of the misinterpretation of the commerce department's survey of world sugar production, but has not halted its inquiry.

The United States tariff commission, under orders from President Harding, is planning to go into the situation, too, but it will be unable to determine for several weeks if increases in import duties can be blamed for high prices.

Search for Men Who Murdered Police Chief

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 7. — No trace had been found this morning of an automobile believed to contain four men that escaped from Raton, N. M., last night after Chief of Police Davis of that city had been shot and killed.

Two cars, one said to bear a California license and the other a Kansas license with two men in each car, were reported in a melee in the streets of Raton after the men had "picked up" four local girls. When Chief Davis jumped onto the running board of the first car he was shot and killed by one of the occupants. The second car then ran over his body. The girls escaped from the machines but were captured and are being held in Raton.

Abandoning one of the automobiles the four men fled north. Police in cities in Southern Colorado have been guarding the highway from Raton all night and the speeding car was reported passing through Pueblo at 1 o'clock this morning.

Trial of Dr. Jacobs Continued to Monday

SAN DIEGO, April 7. — The trial of Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, charged with the murder of Fritzie Mann, the dancer whose body was found on the beach below Torrey pines, was in recess today with the prosecution still retaining the right to continue presentation of testimony when court opens Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

It was reported in courthouse circles today, however, that the state will rest Monday morning and the defense will immediately move the court to instruct the jury to disregard all testimony on the ground that the corpus delicti had not been proven. If granted, this would mean that the jury would retire and acquit the young Camp Kearney physician without more ado.

In the event that the court should refuse to order an "advised verdict," the defense is said to be ready to put ten or more witnesses on the stand in an effort to prove an alibi for the Johns Hopkins graduate.

Locomotive Explodes; Two Men Are Killed

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 7. — Two men were killed at 3 o'clock when a Lehigh Valley railroad engine exploded near Miller Hill, Duryea. The dead men are Emanuel Martin and James Bryden, engineer and fireman on the engine.

Men And Women Of Vision See Great Possibilities In Purchase Of Airport Site

IN the consideration of any project of the magnitude of the proposed airport for Glendale, with its attendant expenditure of the city's funds, it is essential that the taxpayers of the municipality carefully consider the merits of both sides of the controversy, and that the fullest discussion be had in order that every angle of the situation be brought out.

The past history of Glendale shows that many projects have been submitted that have appeared, at the time, as being on too ambitious a scale to work out successfully, but men and women of vision, who have been able to look into the future, and who have backed their faith in their city by their works, have, through hard and unremitting labor, brought these projects to a successful conclusion, to the permanent benefit of Glendale and of all of its citizens.

In the eyes of many people here the airport project is another such as we have just alluded to, but it is maintained by its supporters that the resultant profit from the venture will fall into Glendale's lap immediately and with a minimum of toil and waiting. They declare that those manufacturers who are awaiting the result of next Tuesday's vote will rush to locate here immediately on the rendering of a favorable decision by the voters of the city, and that the income from the airport will begin flowing into the city treasury within a short time, amounting to a very respectable figure within the coming fiscal year.

There seems to be considerable ground to support their contention, to judge from the claims made by the supporters of the $49,000 bond issue, but it is well to approach the subject dispassionately and to consider the merits of the case from every point of view, and in this the opponents of the bond issue are performing a public service in formulating their particular views and in presenting them for the consideration of the public, as they are entitled to do under our form of government.

Glendale must go ahead. That is admitted on every hand and by every citizen who has the interests of the city at heart. But the rate of progress can be made too fast for public safety, and it is a wise provision that those who oppose the bond issue are given an opportunity to act as a brake on what they regard as an un-called for expense at this time. It is always possible, however, to jam on the brakes so fast that progress will be entirely halted, rather than that the municipal vehicle may have its speed regulated in such a manner as to enable its driver to swing it safely around the dangerous curves that lie in its path.

The one unchanging law of the universe is that of change. No man or city may stand still and hope to progress. Advance is the keynote of men and municipalities and no one may defy this eternal law without paying the penalty by retrograding.

The men and women who are supporting the bond issue are doing so with the honest conviction that it means a distinct step in the advance of Glendale along the road that will lead to a greater commercial prosperity than even this city has ever known. They are looking to the future of their beloved city and are working for what they believe to be its advantage, and their opinions are worthy of serious consideration from everyone who believes in the destiny of Glendale, a destiny that is to place this city in the front rank of American municipalities in many more respects than that of its phenomenal building record.

Glendale today, it is claimed by the supporters of the bonds, stands at that point in its development when it has an opportunity to reach forth and grasp an asset that no other city in America possesses, a municipal airport with its attendant industrial district that will mean not only enormous revenue for the city, but that will also advertise Glendale from ocean to ocean as the most progressive city in the United States.

SEVEN SEEK POSITIONS ON CITY COUNCIL

Who's Who in Contest for
Two Vacancies to Be Filled by Voters

VOTERS of Glendale will next Tuesday fill two vacancies on the City Council. There are seven candidates for the two positions. Each candidate has his own opinion as to how the affairs of the municipality should be conducted. They have made their announcements. It is up to the voters of Glendale to make the selection of their representatives. The people have good judgment; they do not have to be told how to vote.

Following will be found, arranged in alphabetical order, brief "descriptions" of the seven candidates:

FRANK BOOTH of 111 South Kenwood street, who is a candidate for the City Council claims the distinction of being a "self-made man."

Mr. Booth was born in London, January 4, 1864. When a lad he sang before Queen Victoria in Westminster Abbey. After graduating from Oxford university, he served through the Boer war under Lord Roberts. His discharge from the British army brought with it a desire to come to America to make his fortune. One week after he had located in Detroit, where he obtained a position as chemist with the Parke-Davis company, he took out his first papers.

About twenty years ago, Mr. Booth came to California and after remaining in Los Angeles a couple of years came to Glendale. He peddled coffee and tea from a basket, then bought a bicycle on the installment plan. As his business expanded he bought a horse and buggy and then an automobile. Meanwhile, he had acquired a store at 318 East Broadway, which he sold last June after becoming a partner in the business. "The Coffee King," Mr. Booth is a Mason, an Eastern Star and a member of St. Mark's Episcopal church.

SIDNEY S. GILHULY resides at 342 El Bonita avenue. Mr. Gilhuly was born August 18, 1880, in Ontario, Canada. He came to California from St. Louis in 1912 and almost six years ago moved from Los Angeles to Glendale.

Mr. Gilhuly now has a real estate office at 1801 South Brand boulevard. About two years ago he retired from railroad work, which had occupied his attention for twenty years. During the last half of this period he was connected with the Santa Fe railway company, holding several important positions including that of passenger traffic manager. For this reason he takes an unusual interest in transportation.

As the father of two daughters, Marjorie Gilhuly and Rosemary, both of whom are in local schools, Mr. Gilhuly takes a personal interest in education.

The Chamber of Commerce claims Mr. Gilhuly as an active member. Last year he was a member of the city sewer committee. He is an Elk and a Knight Templar.

ASA HALL of 636 North Louise street was born near Toronto, Canada. After living in Chicago for a number of years, he came to Los Angeles in 1889 or thirty-four years ago. Three years later he bought a orange ranch near Azusa and organized the first orange growers' association, which built two packing houses before the Pacific Electric railway came through Covina. For a number of years he was president of the Glendora Citrus association and a director in the Azusa, Covina, Glendora Fruit Exchange.

When about to become a certified public accountant in 1907, Mr. Hall was invited to become a special investigator in the audit of the office of Los Angeles. Here he investigated the expenditure of money in a number of the municipal departments. Later he took a civil service examination and became head bookkeeper and accountant. In this capacity he made all the tax levies, made all appropriations of money, compiled the auditor's annual report and handled accounts involving millions of dollars.

WILLIAM A. HORN resides at 221 North Louise street. After building up a bicycle repair business in Buffalo, N. Y., into a bicycle manufacturing plant, Mr. Horn was invited to become general manager of the city of Lockport, N. Y. He remained there five years and raised funds to pay off a debt of $32,000 and $45,000 additional for the erection of a new building. Mr. Horn then financed the completion of a Y. M. C. A. building at Kingston-on-the-Hudson. In 1906 Mr. Horn came to California. (Continued on page 13)

PEYCKE PROGRAM CHARMS HEARERS

First Concert in Club's New Auditorium Is Marked Artistic Success

Freida Peycke's contagious smile, pleasing voice and finished musical and dramatic interpretation charmed Glendale Music club members and friends filling the Tuesday Afternoon club house auditorium last night for one of her delightful programs.

Miss Peycke has a host of friends and admirers in Glendale and they were augmented last night by many other Glendaleans anxious to hear her.

Mrs. Mattie B. Jones, club president, who is just home from the Federation convention at San Luis Obispo, preceded the program with a few words of welcome. The program is the first the club has enjoyed in the new Tuesday Afternoon club house auditorium, and Mrs. Jones expressed the hope that all of the programs of the future may be heard there.

Upon her presentation by Mrs. Jones, Miss Peycke introduced her program with a group of humorous, philosophical numbers, and followed these with a group on the charms of nature and its seasons.

While these were all cleverly done and received hearty applause, the latter part of her program undoubtedly had a stronger appeal and was more keenly enjoyed by her hearers.

"Humor" of "The Lost Arrow," with words by Bertha Smith, was a legend from the northern Indians, and Miss Peycke's dramatic rendition and musical accompaniment were both beautifully done.

Displays Talent

Her final group of selections came under the title, "The Whimsies of Girls and Boys," and gave the artist splendid opportunity for displaying her talent. Miss Peycke's clever work in presenting this type of sketch has been one of the biggest reasons for her success and popularity, and those she gave last night inspired such applause that she returned for three encores after her final number.

In response to the pleasure of her hearers, she gave her well-known piece, "The Annual Protest," "How the Rabbit Got Long Ears" and "Chums."

DEATHS, FUNERALS

URGE KIWANIAN TO AID AIRPORT

American Legion Site Also Favored by Speaker
at Luncheon

The Glendale Kiwanis Club met yesterday noon in the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse when welcome was extended to local Kiwanians by Mrs. Dan Campbell of North Glendale, president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

The importance of getting out and voting for the airport bonds was emphasized by Herman Nelson of 700 East Broadway. He commented on the fact that he had been the first person to operate an automobile in a certain town in Iowa and that the farmers there had all been "agin" him because it had scared their horses. He expressed his opinion that the development of the use of the airplane probably would be just as startling as the development in the use of the automobile.

Glendale can well afford to give its American Legion post the two acre site of the northeast corner of Mountain and Louise streets for its clubhouse, according to E. P. Hayward of 142 South Brand boulevard, who made a short speech urging all Kiwanians to vote "yes" on No. 7. He called attention to the fact that this land had cost the City of Glendale very little to begin with and that, even if it is worth $10,000, that would only mean an assessment of 35 cents on each $1000 of valuation.

W. R. Brown of Pasadena, district governor of California and Nevada, made a short speech on Kiwanianism.

A solo was sung by Colin Harris of 344 Burchett street. Herbert Henning of 1211 North Columbus avenue accompanied him.

LOCAL BUILDERS ELECT OFFICERS

Organization of Glendale
Exchange Completed
At Meeting

Organization of the Builders' Exchange of Glendale was perfected at a well attended meeting held last night. A constitution classifying all master craftsmen in the various branches of the building industries was adopted, following which officers to serve the exchange were elected.

The officers elected are: President, H. C. Yale, General Construction Co.; vice president, Peter L. Perry, highway contractor; treasurer, J. C. May, May & Hellman, building contractors; secretary-manager, Attorney Henry Molz.

A board of directors to comprise representation of the various builders' branches represented in the membership will be elected upon completion of the membership campaign, as it is the desire of the members thus far enrolled to give full and impartial representation to all.

Against Amendment No. 1
The meeting went against Charter Amendment No. 1, it being the consensus of opinion that it was bad practice as a whole.

"The Exchange is not organized for selfish purposes; it proposes to champion the rights of the public as well as those of its members, and by a united effort alone can this be accomplished," stated Secretary Molz.

The officers have been authorized to secure a suitable meeting place so that the Exchange can properly function, and it is hoped to have it in readiness in time for the next meeting to be held on Friday, April 13.

Thief Walks Off With Two Hives of Bees

Some one with a liking for honey bees visited the apiary of M. H. Pettit at Montrose on or about Thursday night and walked away with two colonies of bees tucked under his arm.

Mr. Pettit is the grandson-in-law of "Mamma" Nanita Verdugo, and he and his family reside at the old Grape Vine Inn.

He had 100 colonies of bees in his apiary near the gravel pit to the west of his home and yesterday he discovered that two of the colonies were missing.

In his opinion the theft was committed by some one used to handling bees and that whoever it was drove up, stopped up the entrance holes in the boxes and put them in an automobile and drove away.

Mr. Pettit has offered a reward for information leading to the recovery of the bees.

Noted Woman Orator At First M. E. Church

Those attending the First Methodist Episcopal church at the morning services tomorrow will be privileged to hear a very celebrated orator, announces Rev. H. I. Rasmus, when Mrs. Lena Leonard Fisher, when Mrs. Lena Leonard of the San Francisco area, will address the congregation in behalf of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

A great privilege is anticipated by those who are familiar with the inspiring personality of Mrs. Fisher, and others are invited to come and get acquainted.

Cigar, the word, is Spanish, and is derived from cigarra, meaning grasshopper, because, Spaniards say, tobacco comes from the garden where the grasshopper sings.

The following is a complete list of prizes offered through the courtesy of Glendale merchants.

The best verses will be published and the prizes awarded on the nights of the performance.

The following verses were submitted by C. A. Gallagher, 505 North Jackson street:

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Once I heard you say a hotel was in sight,
Up on Broadway near the Bank,
But I'm afraid you are a crank,
And I thought perhaps your mind wasn't right.

Oh, Mr. Shean, oh, Mr. Shean,
As I looked upon the place it should have been,
Then I said, "Now, bless my soul,
It is the 'Glendale Bowl'."
What? the Hotel, Mr. Gallagher?
No, the hole, Mr. Shean.

Oh, Mr. Gallagher, oh, Mr. Gallagher,
Once I thought I heard your agonizing shout,
When your wife, in accents bland,
With a rosebush in her hand,
Said, "I wish you'd dig a hole
and set it out."

Oh, Mr. Shean, oh, Mr. Shean,
As I looked upon the rose bush bright and green,
Then I said to my good Sally,
I'll set it in the alley.
What? the rosebush, Mr. Gallagher?
No, the garbage can, Mr. Shean.

J. R. GREY WRITES ABOUT ELECTION

Discusses Charter Amendments and Purchase of
Airport; Gives Views

Editor The Evening News—On April 10 questions will be submitted to the voters which require careful consideration and analysis. There are new councilmen to be chosen. Weigh the candidates well. Any man with a glib tongue can make extravagant promises. We need men of brains and ability who are not intent on building up one section of the city at the expense of the other.

There are other issues of vital import. Certain amendments to the city charter should be weighed carefully. The amendments are six in number. Those which provide for more efficient handling of city affairs should be supported. No. 1, which is loosely drawn, virtually cancels that portion of the charter already in effect which prevents, or should prevent, large expenditures of public funds without submitting the proposition to the tax-payers, should be defeated. No. 4 should be defeated, as it proposes to reduce the time for the passing of an ordinance from five days to two days after presentation. This is dead wrong, as proved by the Verdugo Park and Airport deals. These things were railroaded through the council with great haste. When the council were asked to account for their high-handed procedure, in court, they resorted to the expedient of a bond issue to save their hides and also to try and make the deal look "regular."

Regarding Airport
Now in regard to the "Airport" deal, this thing has been handled as a regular "comedy of errors" from the start, or shall we say "tragedy of errors"? One defense of this so-called purchase is the representation that the land is water-bearing and will enable the city to increase the water supply. This claim is absurd for the reason that everyone in Glendale, who is at all posted knows that the City of Los Angeles has the prior right to all the water in that territory which the "air port" is a part of. This right can be enforced whenever the City of Los Angeles cares to do so. Another lame excuse offered for the purchase is that it is a "good piece of business," from a standpoint of speculation. We contend that the city council of Glendale should devote their official efforts to the efficient handling of the people's interests. If this is done they will have no time to unwisely spend the taxpayers' money in real estate speculation. We are informed that the city council is about to lease four acres of the so-called "airport" to a fertilizer factory for the magnificent sum of $800 per year. In return for this large revenue, the entire northwest section of the city, including the exclusive Kenneth road section, will be saturated with that horrible odor that only a fertilizer factory can produce, an odor that will never blend with the fragrance of orange blossoms. And for creating this condition the city of Glendale is to receive from the Pep Chemical Company the sum of $800.00 per year. Eight hundred! Count 'em!

Fellow citizens, we feel that it is time to get beneath the surface and inspect these things in the light of reason instead of the glitter of propaganda.
Vote! Vote NO on the Bonds.

Legion's Ball Team
Plays Lamanda Park

The Glendale team of the American Legion Baseball league will play the Lamanda Park team, Pasadena, at Brookside park, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, announces V. Carr, manager of the local team. Bun Hunt will pitch and A. G. Wheelon will catch.

Last Sunday afternoon the local Legionnaires beat the Glendale National Guards by the score of 7 to 4, in a practice game. Tomorrow they are out to bring home the Lamanda Park trophy, and are looking for a lot of support.

BURBANK

BURBANK SHOWS
STEADY BUILDING

Continued Progress Is Being Made; Recent Deals In Realty Told

Gratifying and continued progress is seen in the record of recent building permits issued for construction within the city limits of Burbank, each month of 1923 so far being higher than the preceding month.

In January the total was $143,815; in February, $170,405, and in March $176,665—a total for the first three months of the current year of $490,885, as over a total of $450,765 for the first three months of 1922.

This is the steady, consistent sort of growth that most welcome to merchants and townspeople alike, being entirely free from the mushroom element.

The largest permit taken out during March was for $20,000, by Rex Obuchon, who will build a bungalow court at Eighth street and Tuljunga avenue, and the second largest permit of the month was for $15,000, taken out by the Sun Investment company, who will build a bungalow court at 624 Orange Grove avenue.

In commenting on the present building situation in Burbank, Building Inspector Dale expresses the opinion that the record will pass the $2,000,000 mark in 1923, as over $1,330,940 in 1922.

Inspector Dale's opinion is given added weight by the fact that several large building projects are about to break, making it look like a record month for April.

Recent Realty Deals

A transaction involving boulevard frontage has been consummated through the A. C. Gage company, by which S. C. Kline of Glendale becomes the owner of fifty-four and one-half feet on San Fernando boulevard, between Tuljunga and Verdugo avenues, at present occupied by the Review building.

W. P. Coffman, the seller, former owner of the Burbank Review, takes over in the exchange the six-acre tract at the corner of Alameda and Flower streets, with trackage facilities along the Southern Pacific railroad.

Indicative of the rapid rise of boulevard frontage is the comparison between the price of $30 a front foot paid by Mr. Coffman three years ago for the site just sold, and the present valuation of $300 a front foot placed on adjacent property.

Takes Over Property

The Atherton Villa at Fourth and Cypress has been taken over by the Evangelical church, and will henceforth be known as the Pacific Evangelical Home for Aged People.

In addition, the Evangelical people have acquired lots at the corner of Fifth and Cypress, on which they plan to erect a church, further plans for which will be developed at the annual conference at Lodi, in May.

The above is information given out by Rev. A. J. Boelter, who states that the home and its grounds will be improved in the near future, at a cost of $20,000. A landscape gardener is now employed and interior decorators will soon be at work on the main building.

When the Pacific Evangelical Home is completed, inmates will be sent to it from all parts of California, Oregon and Washington, the church having other such homes in the east.

Until a new church can be erected upon the recently acquired property at Fifth and Cypress, the Magnolia avenue church between Glendale and Lanarkshire will continue to be used.

Local News and Notes

Patrons of the Burbank line of the Pacific Electric system are expressing themselves as very much pleased over the recent improvement of service, by which a change at Glendale has been obviated.

Passengers may now ride direct from Los Angeles to Burbank, and vice versa, without change, every other car out of Los Angeles on that line being a Burbank car.

The time service, moreover, has been cut from forty to thirty minutes, making the connection between Burbank and Los Angeles just that much more solid.

More than 200 people attended an important meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church, held Wednesday night at 6:30 o'clock, the affair being the annual dinner and business meeting.

A bountiful meal was served by the women of the church after which reports were heard of the various activities of the church during the past year, officers for the coming term were elected and a social time enjoyed.

The Ladies' Aid and Missionary societies of the Christian church met at the parsonage at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, when a business meeting was held, followed by a program.

Refreshments were served and the annual thank offering taken.

Japan to Entertain
American Fleet Chief

TOKIO, April 7.—Extensive plans for the entertainment of Admiral Anderson, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, who arrived at Yokohama during his eight days' stay in Japan, have been modified because of the fact that Japan is mourning the death of Prince Kitashirakawa in Paris. However, he will be received and entertained by the prince-regent during his stay.

TUJUNGA

Tujunga Entertainer To Broadcast Lectures From
Los Angeles Radio Plant

A FEW weeks ago radio fans were entertained by Sunland and Tujunga musicians at a "Tujunga night" broadcast from a Los Angeles broadcasting station. The entertainment was so well received and demands for another so insistent that the local artists are planning to give another Tujunga night in the near future.

The latest local entertainer to broadcast his wares is George Harris, home grown author of "The Philosophy of the Hill Tribes," exponent of the "Art Aesthetic," rustic fashioned-by-nature work and builder of anything from a fisherman's cabin to a mountain mansion. Mr. Harris will be heard via the radio next Saturday night at 8 o'clock, and continuing thereafter until further notice. He will lecture on "The Hill Tribe Philosophy" and the "School of Common Sense," the latter including anything from parlor patter to Christian Science and even the yellow peril.

By tuning in at 8 o'clock Saturday night at 8 o'clock, and continuing thereafter until further notice, he will lecture on "The Hill Tribe Philosophy" and the "School of Common Sense," the latter including anything from parlor patter to Christian Science and even the yellow peril.

Change Meeting House

The Tujunga Valley Realty Board has changed the time for holding their meetings from the noon hour on Mondays to the nine hour on the same day. This is necessary in order to review their work and discuss plans at length without sacrificing part of the day to do it. The next meeting will be held at the Cozy Cup Inn, Tujunga, Monday evening at 5:30.

The Realty Board is taking an active interest in the local transportation problem and hopes to work out plans and suggestions that will be of material aid in solving this important question.

The annex-to-Los Angeles fever has again broken out in parts of Tujunga. An organization known as the Monte Vista Valley Improvement Association has been formed and will endeavor to start a movement to annex Tujunga to Los Angeles. A committee was to have met the first of the week to discuss ways and means, but the threatening weather bluffed some of the members into staying home and little could be done by the unbluffable who did attend. They will meet again soon and hope to get the move started in earnest.

Church Plans Drive

The Tujunga Community Church is planning necessary additions to the building and the men's brotherhood has undertaken a campaign to raise the funds and will also endeavor to secure one hundred new members by the first of July. It had been previously decided that $15,000 would cover the proposed improvements, but estimates submitted show that this sum will not suffice. The members of the brotherhood present at the last meeting were in favor of setting the mark at $25,000 and starting a campaign at once to this end.

The meeting was addressed by Rev. Glenn Moore, M. V. Hartman and W. D. Wright, H. J. Jagger and Robert Walker entertained with solos.

With everything else in readiness for the opening night Ralph Perronet, proprietor of the new motion picture theatre, has made a disappointing announcement. The chairs he ordered were due to arrive from the east the first part of the week and when they failed to do so, Mr. Perronet made inquiries by telegraph and finally located them snow-bound in Wisconsin. This will necessitate postponing the opening date at least a week. This unfortunate turn of events is a great disappointment to both the public and Mr. Perronet, but he is not going to allow it to affect the project and promises an even better show for the postponed opening which he hopes will take place next week.

Lee Barnett, foreman for the Bell Telephone Company, was a recent visitor at the F. Good home on Summit avenue. Mr. Barnett is looking for a home site in the hills and it was with this purpose in mind that he made the trip from Los Angeles, where he is employed. So many excellent locations were offered and so many good propositions made to him that he was unable to decide and made this an excuse to drive out again in the near future.

Fred Good is a hustling, young poultryman at present employed by the Bell company. He has nearly a thousand birds on his ranch and finds them very profitable, as is evidenced by the new car he is displaying to his friends. This property did not escape the covetous eye of his foreman and Mr. Barnett will forthwith begin the study of poultry raising and automobile buying.

A furniture store has been added to the growing list of business houses in Tujunga this week. Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor and T. H. Davies are the proprietors and have opened in the Taylor building on Michigan Avenue. They will handle both new and used furniture.

The various committees appointed to handle traffic at other arrangements for the convenience of the public attending the Easter services last Sunday are being praised for the efficient and prompt manner in which the work was done. Plans were made to handle a vast throng, which would undoubtedly have attended had the weather been more favorable, and it is worthy of comment that these plans were all fully carried out. The trail leading from the end of the sky line drive to the cross was in excellent shape, six to ten feet wide and graded to an easily negotiated incline. It is planned to widen this trail in the near future to accommodate automobile traffic, enabling machines to be driven to within one hundred feet of the cross. The work was done by the California Home Extension Company under the direction of E. L. Sweet and clearly shows his ability in this work. With very little additional work the trail can now be widened to accommodate vehicles without materially changing the grade.

The men and Boy Scouts assigned to duty were at their posts promptly, in sufficient numbers to handle any and all problems incidental to such a gathering. Leo L. Lang and Professor Adams had charge of the Boy Scouts, who were stationed along the hill road and trail to guide and assist pedestrians. Members of the troop on duty were: Charles Furlong, John Moulder, Robert Everett, Marshall Anderson, Eddie Rehm and Robert Rutherford.

Major Blake headed a traffic committee formed by George Buck, A. D. Kirschman, J. H. Kautz, Charles Keller, H. L. Harvey, Dr. E. Theobald, D. J. Sullivan, J. A. Caldwell, Leo Smith, E. A. Miller, Edward McCarty and Phil Begue.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements were: E. L. Sweet, Dr. J. U. Stotts, F. C. Scoville, Leo Lang, Wallace Morgan, P. J. Blake, Zoe Gilbert and Mrs. Cora Linaberry.

Birthday Party

A birthday party was given in honor of Mrs. C. H. Bloodgood by her daughter, Mrs. Charles Kimpel, on the evening of March 28, at Sunland. About one hundred and fifty guests enjoyed dancing at the Twin Pines dance hall. A five piece orchestra furnished the music and the entertainments were delightful, filled by solos by Mrs. Laura Sweet, soprano, Mr. Chapman, tenor, and piano solos by Mrs. Kimpel. Mrs. Bloodgood was showered with congratulations and beautiful gifts. Refreshments were served after the dancing.

Miss Frances Morgan entertained the Glendale Colonial dancing club this week at her home on Live Oaks Lane. The club members present were: Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stover, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bloore, Mr. and Mrs. Mark White, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Sweet, Miss Osgood, Mrs. Linaberry, Mrs. Blancher, Mrs. Campbell, C. W. Parcher and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Morgan.

A business meeting and banquet were combined this week by the T. N. T. club and other clubs agreeably disposed of by the members.

G. H. Smedley has been appointed manager of the local office just opened by the Southern California Edison Electric company in Tujunga, and has purchased the property at 204 North Pine Street, where he will make his home. Mr. Smedley has been connected with the Edison company at Pasadena for several years and when given charge of the local office he promptly moved here to be near his work.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Perner of Michigan avenue have been entertaining their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wardell and their small son at their home this week.

The Pico Stars are scheduled to play Sunland this Sunday at Monte Vista park, Sunland. The Stars have heard of the last two slughters committed by Sunland against visiting teams and are coming out to take the home crew off their winning streak.

GLENDALE CREST

Business District Will Be Established Along Sycamore Drive

That Glendale Crest will have a business section, has been announced by J. D. Miller, of the J. D. Miller Realty Co., owners of the property.

"We have reserved that property which fronts on Sycamore drive as a business district. Sycamore drive is to be made one of the finest boulevards in southern California, and where it joins Verdugo road at our property, will rapidly become a center of population that will demand the convenience of a small shopping district. We are restricting the style of buildings to be erected here and will allow fireproof structures only. As there are only a few of these lots to be sold, speculators will probably grab them up at once and the erection of buildings will follow.

"The sale of residence property at Glendale Crest has far exceeded our expectations, over a hundred thousand dollars' worth being already disposed of.

Install Facilities

"The curbs, walks, streets and public utilities will soon be in and undoubtedly this summer will see dozens of homes in the course of construction.

"The building of the new Glendale High school near our tract has helped us materially in disposing of our lots. Most people realize the added value that a large school gives to property.

"The foothills are beautiful now and many people visit the Crest to enjoy the beautiful view and pick the wild flowers that make their abode there."

EAGLE ROCK

WILL GET WATER
FOR EAGLE ROCK

Plan to Tap Viaduct Near City to Bring Supply Without Cost

Chief Engineer William Mulholland, of the bureau of water works and supply, Los Angeles, speaking before the members of the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce on Thursday night, told them that annexation with Los Angeles is to give the community an adequate water supply at practically no additional cost to the people.

This information, it is felt, will relieve the minds of many who have feared that Eagle Rock's new water bill was going to be a costly one. The means of delivering Los Angeles water to the citizens of Eagle Rock, Engineer Mulholland pointed out, will be to tap the great municipal viaduct at the point where it passes closest to the community.

The meeting opened at 8 o'clock, in the city hall, about seventy-five members being present. Various reports were made and several committees appointed by President O. J. Root, who presided. In the absence of Dr. Harry B. Crawford, the chamber's regular secretary, L. B. McKelvey was appointed secretary pro tem.

Main Employees

J. C. Smith, secretary of the Sawtelle Chamber of Commerce, was present as a special guest and gave an inspiring talk on the progress of that body in the past year, pointing out that it numbered at the present time between 400 and 500 members.

A resolution was adopted recommending that the present city employees be retained in office following annexation, and a committee was appointed to confer with officials of the city of Los Angeles, in an effort to accomplish this result. S. B. Osborne, mayor of the city of Eagle Rock and chairman of the Board of Trustees, was appointed chairman of a consolidated committee composed of representatives of various committees appointed in conjunction with post-annexation work.

Street Improvements

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Trustees of the city of Eagle Rock, up to 5 o'clock the night of Monday, April 9, for gutting the east side of Valley drive from Park avenue to Artesian Heights park, announces B. B. Martself, city clerk, who also states that sealed bids will be received up until the same hour of the same day, for certain improvements on the grounds surrounding the city hall building.

The quarterly meeting of the Federated Parent-Teacher Associations of Eagle Rock was held in the auditorium of the Central avenue school, Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Archibald delivering a talk full of inspiration to all Eagle Rock parents.

Church Holds Sale

The St. Barnabas Guild of the Episcopal church is holding a food and fancy work sale today at the Eagle Rock headquarters of the Glendale Evening News, 113 East Colorado boulevard, tea being served at all hours and many fine foods and dainty things being on sale. At 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, April 11, the St. Barnabas Guild will meet with Mrs. A. C. McClintic, 210 North Satsuma avenue.

Mrs. Solana L. Foster has returned to Needles after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Swiser, of 137 North Windermere avenue.

S. Breckenridge, of East Ellenwood drive, is still doing jury duty in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nasland of Brawley, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wiedhoff, of 205 East Ellenwood drive.

SELLS GLENDALE
LOT TO PITCHER

Members of Los Angeles Team Visit Former Friends Living Here

George Lyons, Elmer Ponder and Tom Daly, all of the Los Angeles "Angels," of the Coast league, with Mr. Daly's wife and the baby, drove out to Glendale yesterday afternoon to visit Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Greenlow, of 621 North Geneva street, and Dr. W. E. Sunderman.

Lyons and Ponder are both pitchers on their team, while Daly is catcher.

George Lyons comes from Bible Grove, Ill. the same town where Mrs. Greenlow and Dr. Sunderman grew up.

Mr. Greenlow, who is connected with the Glendale Realty Company, took the ball players for a drive all over Glendale, and Mr. Lyons was so much impressed that he bought a lot on Geneva street, between Lexington and Doran.

Philippine Bank Head
Quits; Blames Wood

MANILA, April 7.—E. W. Wilson, former San Francisco banker, has resigned the managership of the Philippine National bank, effective December 31. It is reported that the interference of Governor-General Wood in the bank's administration of national sugar mills caused Wilson to tender his resignation.

It is still possible to participate in this unusual opportunity by securing one of the few remaining lots. In this connection the Leimert Company is endeavoring to emphasize the fact that every lot in Bellehurst Park is a desirable homestead and a good investment as well. There are no bad lots in the tract as the entire property is level, well drained, and equally fertile. Naturally some others but the scattering location of the remaining lots show that they are last to go more by ac-

MONTROSE

REALTY BOOMING
ROUND MONTROSE

Prices of Desirable Lots Increase Many Times In Few Months

Real estate continues to be very active in Montrose.

Reports of continuing activity were made yesterday afternoon at 621 Montrose avenue in the office of the Howard Merwin company.

C. P. Cook, member of this firm, admitted that he alone has closed sales in this district totaling $67,000 within the past few days.

"The activity here in the last three weeks has been greater than at any time in the history of the Montrose and La Crescenta valleys," he remarked. "Business is so hot on Honolulu avenue that were selling for $750 last November today are being held and sold for $4000. The rapid growth of Montrose is shown in the great increase in the value of property."

Another sale in Alta Canada made within the past few days by Mr. Cook was the sale of a hill tract to Volney Kane of Buffalo, New York, who is now in the east closing out his business interests and expects to return in the fall to make his permanent home in California. His purchase has a frontage of 171 feet and a depth of 322 feet. The price was $12,500.

In the Orange Manor Tract, Mr. Cook reports several sales of residential sites. Robert Sloan of Glendale, Mrs. E. Woelfel of Glendale and Miss Loretta Schwab of Montrose are all recent purchasers in this district.

Another large recent transaction in the Montrose valley was the sale of the northeast corner of Honolulu and Los Angeles avenues, which was owned by Mark Collins and L. M. Tillinghast, to H. E. Bruce, for $10,000. Mr. Bruce has leased the real estate office of Tillinghast & Collins, which is located on the site, and will open a branch office here for the Howard Merwin company.

BELLEHURST LOT
SALE NEARS END

Rush to Secure Homesites in New Subdivision Sets Record

Bellehurst Park, the most successful high class residence subdivision ever offered to the public in Glendale, is almost sold out. Only a few of the beautiful lots offered to the public in the present tract remain available at the original opening prices and all signs point to a completed sale by Sunday or Monday of next week.

Nearly a million dollars' worth of property has been sold by the Walter H. Leimert Company, in the three weeks since the first announcement of this mammoth sale appeared in the papers. Over 500 new people have now purchased property in Glendale, a significant occurrence that will have a long, lasting effect on the future of the city.

Bellehurst Park is now an established section of the municipality; it will soon be famous as the finest residence community in this part of the metropolitan area of Los Angeles as well as in Glendale alone, and it is an asset to the entire community.

Homes Are Planned

According to advices from the office of the Walter H. Leimert Company, there are already many new homes contemplated for the new tract. All will naturally be of the highest class, the carefully worked out building restrictions prevent any possibility of unsightly or undesirable structures being erected.

All city improvements are to be installed at once, the street grading now being well under way, and the water, gas and electricity to go in very soon. Water mains will immediately make it possible to start construction of new dwellings.

A sharp advance in values in Bellehurst Park is now under way. The few remaining lots available at opening prices will soon be gone which will make it impossible to obtain lots in the tract without purchasing from the original buyers. According to reliable information, all these buyers are holding their property at prices that correspond to values outside but adjoining Bellehurst Park. This means a substantial advance over the prices originally offered by the Walter H. Leimert Company and yet many transfers are being reported.

Few Lots Left

It is still possible to participate in this unusual opportunity by securing one of the few remaining lots.

In this connection the Leimert Company is endeavoring to emphasize the fact that every lot in Bellehurst Park is a desirable homestead and a good investment as well. There are no bad lots in the tract as the entire property is level, well drained, and equally fertile. Naturally some others but the scattering location of the remaining lots show that they are last to go more by ac-

STUDY BOOK TO SECURE RESULTS

Follow Instructions Given by Builder, Not What Some Friend Says

By B. D. MOSES
Agricultural Engineering Division,
University of California
"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing." We often hear it quoted, and when talking to a friend who has learned a little, by hearsay principally, about automobiles, and he tells us how he primes his engine when he stops it by speeding it up and shutting off the spark; and how he cools his motor nicely by running down hill on compression, little do we think of what damage he might cause us to do to the best mechanical friend we have.

Suppose someone were to tell you that every time you stopped your sewing machine you should take a rag and carefully wipe off all the oil from the bearings and then when you started up next time re-oil it. Would you take his advice?

Will Dilute Oil
This is, in effect, what you are doing when the engine is speeded up and run several revolutions with the spark off. Raw fuel is drawn through the carburetor, rondsens in the cylinders, and quite thoroughly washes all the oil off the cylinder walls and pistons, and then instead of finding the lubricating oil in your crank case.

The practice of running down hill on compression, unless the gasoline can be cut off, has something of the same effect and if the hill is very long, by the time the bottom is reached you will have a nice clean piston working in a nice clean, unlubricated cylinder. Just what you do not want.

Does Not Get Results
A man recently told his friend that he had a stunt for cleaning his spark plugs. "I just retard my spark and let the engine run hot and burn off the oil on the plug," he said. Now, instead of getting out of the machine and locating the plug and cleaning it properly, this fellow heats up his whole engine and then, nine times out of ten, does not get the results.

Another fellow rejoices over the fact that he can use heavy fuel, maybe distillate, by simply patronizing his drug store, and dropping in the gasoline tank a few moth balls. Now the real effect of adding mothballs to gasoline is to make it heavier instead of lighter and at the same time make it burn with a heavier deposit of soot. So, instead of helping his engine materially, he is making the gas harder to vaporize and dirtier in its combustion.

The automobile manufacturers furnish instruction books that should be carefully studied and not too much credence given to what the casual reader has to advise.

ENOUGH IS PLENTY!

JUNK AUTOS WILL HOLD CONTESTS TWELVE ARE IN FRESNO CONTEST

Many Ancient Cars to Show What They Can Do in Resurrection Meet

SANTA ANA, April 7.—Saturday, May 5, is to be "Auto Resurrection Day" in Orange county. Piles of wreckage, once known as automobiles, but which long ago gave up the struggle and entered what was thought would be their final resting places in junk yards of the county, are beginning to turn over in their graves in anticipation of the day when they will again "strut their stuff" before admiring throngs.

A local committee, co-operating with the Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, is rushing to completion plans for the event which is expected to include a parade, races and a monster dance at the legion hall in the evening.

Several Novel Events
The big event of the day's program will be the race for the used car championship of the county, but in addition to the championship contest there will be races for cars in reverse gear, obstacle races and other novel events. Only ancient cars, the older the better, will be allowed in these events.

The parade will open the day's program. In order to do away with all possibility of speeding in this event the committee has arranged to have Justice of the Peace John B. Cox act as grand marshal of the parade and efforts are being made to have a member of the fair sex who spent some time in the Orange county jail on a speeding charge drive Judge Cox's machine at the head of the procession.

Justice Cox and his fair chauffeur will also act as judges at the races in the afternoon.

Some of Best Know Stars In Auto Racing World to Meet April 26

FRESNO, April 7.—Twelve drivers have definitely entered the annual Raisin Day race of 150 miles to be held on the Fresno Speedway, Thursday, April 26, according to Manager H. E. Patterson, who states that three other entries are definitely assured.

Inasmuch as only twelve cars can start on this track, it being a one-mile loop, elimination trials must be held prior to the race during which the twelve fastest cars will be permitted to race. The others will not be permitted to start, according to a ruling by Starter Fred Wagner.

The definite entrants to date are Jimmy Murphy, Harry Hartz, Cliff Durant, Eddie Hearne, Earl Cooper, Frank Elliott, Art Klein, Joe Thomas, Jerry Wonderlich, W. D. Heavyfoot, Morton, Bennett Hill and Herschell McKee. The other prospective entrants are Tommy Milton, Peter DePaolo and a mystery car from Sanger.

This will mark the final appearance of the 183 cubic-inch automobile in the entire country. Starting the next race at Indianapolis, which follows the Raisin Classic, the new 122-cubic-inch modeled racers will be brought on the track.

FRENCH GRAND PRIX

Cars entered in the 1923 French Grand Prix may not weigh over 1410 pounds and must have a maximum piston displacement of 122 inches. German and Austrian cars are restrained from entering.

DON'T TAKE CHANCE ON MR. SKID!

Ghostly Passenger Goes on Trips When It Rains; Better Be Careful!

Gentle rains threaten to sneak upon the unwary motorist this month and cause a lot of grief for him if he doesn't look out. We have with us "Mr. Skid", "Mr. Skid" is not a person but he is a very dangerous agent nevertheless, declare officials of the Automobile Club of Southern California. "Mr. Skid" is a ghostly passenger who travels with every motorist party whenever they go out in the rain or on sprinkled streets. Mr. Skid is like the old man of the sea. He just sticks with your car through thick and thin and the only way to get rid of him is to chain him. You can chain him by putting skid chains on your wheels when you drive on slippery pavement. If you do not, Mr. Skid will have one hand on your steering wheel all the time and is liable to make things very unpleasant not only for yourself, but for any other automobile you may encounter on the road, points out the Auto Club.

Then It Happens
He gets busy when you least expect it and when you are sailing along a smooth slippery road all of a sudden he gets in his dirty work and you go slithering off into the gutter or somebody else's innocent machine.

Don't take a chance! It only takes a minute or two to put on chains and it may save several months of grief and expense. If you want to come to a stop on a slippery road the unexpected is liable to happen and you find yourself continuing on perhaps into a smash-up. Eighty-nine people have been killed in traffic accidents in the county of Los Angeles, California alone since January first. In March there were 553 persons hurt in traffic crashes and during the same month the year before there were only 506 injured.

Imperial Valley Will Stage Big Auto Show

General interest throughout Southern California is centering on the big auto show to be held in the Imperial Valley at El Centro by the Automobile Dealers Association from April 10th to 14th. Many inquiries have been made at the offices of the Automobile Club of Southern California in regard to the best routes to follow to this show which is a focal point for hundreds of motoring parties each year because of its many unique features and because it is held in the heart of the rich Imperial Valley agricultural district. Scores of motorists will tour to the valley via San Diego and Meyers Canyon, and others will seek the route via Beaumont and Banning. The annual trip to El Centro for the auto show is becoming an event with Southern California automobile owners.

Let's Go For A Little Spin

It has become quite the usual thing to hear a man criticised for buying a car. But there is so much convenience, pleasure and benefit to be derived from the ownership of an automobile, and there are so many comparatively low-priced cars on the market that it seems poor judgment for anyone to deprive himself of an auto if it is at all possible to own one.

The automobile has done so much for civilization; for our country, for our city. Its manufacture, distribution, repair and allied industries are giving work to more people than any other agency. The auto has drawn the four corners of the country together, brought us into closer relationship, made us better acquainted. The motor car has been one of the big causes of Glendale's advance and, of course, is largely responsible for the growth of all Southern California. Thousands have enjoyed the grandeur of the mountains, the beauty of the wooded canyons and all the glories that are so abundantly spread before us here in California, who might have seen little without the automobile.

Speaking of the value of the auto to the individual, it is an especial blessing to the person of small income. To say nothing of the saving of time to the working man, the family car is the greatest agency existent for reviving jaded spirits and resting tired muscles; for erasing the discouragements of the day and making one eager to meet the trials of tomorrow with a conquering spirit.

The mother has been overwhelmed all day with petty household cares; the father is tired after his day of hard work, and he is worrying about tomorrow's problems. The children have been in school or at work all day. What could be more restful than to jump into the family car and for a time forget all worries and cares in the open air? What could give such a sense of being refreshed in mind and soul and body so quickly as to watch the changing shadows on the distant hilltops or to behold the sunset on the sea while spinning along in the car?

People in Southern California forego a precious heritage when they fail to spend every minute possible out of doors. The call of nature is strong here, and nature is healing and rest-giving.

The man who can afford to leave his business for an afternoon of golf; the family that owns a country home, a mountain cabin or a beach cottage; those who can travel a great deal, are not so much in need of the benefits that come as a result of owning a car as the man who is working for a modest wage, the man who cannot give his family frequent outings in any other way. It is the working man and his wife and children who need to get out and enjoy nature and forget for a time their work and worries.

There's nothing so restful and revivifying as a little spin in the family car after a day of hard work and with another such a day in prospect. Let every family that can, own a car.

PLAN RUN TO YOSEMITE VALLEY

Annual Economy Event to Be Held on May 18 and 19, on Better Roads

The seventh annual Los Angeles Economy Run to Camp Curry in the Yosemite National Park will be held May 18 and 19. It has been announced, following a meeting of local automobile newspaper men with George F. Stephenson, A. A. A. representative, and J. A. C. Waters, manager of this year's event.

Being scheduled practically a week later than the run last year, the 1923 contest is expected to be conducted under much more favorable road conditions than those encountered either last year or in 1921. May 11 and 12, the dates at first tentatively suggested were given up primarily on that account.

Although no definite decision has been made as to the rules governing this year's event, it is estimated that there will be no material changes over those in force last year. Due to the rearrangement in the price classifications of the different cars that has manifested itself since the 1922 contest, however, it is the belief of Mr. Waters that some plan will be effected involving the addition of another class in the competition in order to make possible a fair and proper distribution of the entries.

Must Be Standard
The Camp Curry Economy Run, as it has come to be known throughout the automotive world, is conducted under the sanction of the American Automobile Association. The contest board of that organization in formulating the fundamental rules of the run, have made the requirements such that every car entered must be fitted with standard carburetor and ignition system and with standard gasoline tank. In addition, strict attention to minor details relating to standard equipment are always enforced by the officials.

The attempt is being made to secure the services of Fred Wagner, world-famous race starter, as referee for this year's run, according to Mr. Waters. Through Mr. Stephenson, popular A. A. A. technical representative, it is learned that Mr. Wagner has already expressed his willingness to officiate.

In anticipation of the final decision on the dates of the run just announced, many of the local dealers and distributors have already evidenced their intention of entering cars in the contest. It is reported that some are even pushing their preparations to the extent of tuning up their entries and testing them out on Southern California roads with the view to being well in advance of the actual competition.

Expect More Entries
There were sixteen entries actually competing in the 1922 event the competition being divided into five classes, three of four-cylinder cars and two of six-cylinder and eight-cylinder cars.

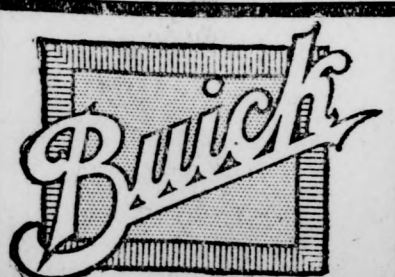

Should the number of classes be increased to six, as is proposed, it is expected that the number of entries in this year's event will (Continued on page 6)

MAXWELL CAR CO. EXPANDS OUTPUT

Sixty Thousand Machines Is Scheduled Production
For This Year

NEW YORK, April 7.—Maxwell Motor Car Corporation's production schedule for this year is 60,000 cars, according to an official statement. This compares with approximately 50,000 cars manufactured and sold in 1922. In addition, Chalmers, which is controlled by Maxwell Motor, is scheduled to turn out 13,000 cars. On this production schedule Maxwell Motor's profits would aggregate around $6,250,000, after all interest charges, depreciation and taxes, equal to $37 a share on the A stock or equivalent to about $8 on the B stock after allowing the full $8 a share on the A stock.

Maxwell Motor's present financial condition is the soundest since its organization, for, under the management of W. P. Chrysler, chairman of the board, deferred liabilities of $14,797,000 have been reduced to approximately $6,600,000. When the new management took hold Maxwell had its series "A," "B" and "C" notes easily exceed that of any in Economy Run history.

With the growing interest in the event on the part of automotive experts and motorists already spreading all over the motorized world it is freely predicted that the 1923 Yosemite Economy Run will attract an unusual amount of attention. While the road condition varies from year to year according to the season and weather encountered, the run is always looked upon by both car manufacturer and car buyer as a significant test of each year's improvements in economy and operation and a gauge for future improvements in economy.

and some $3,250,000 of Chalmers bonds. Last year the total issue of $1,000,000 "A" notes and $1,750,000 of the "B" notes were paid off, though the latter were not due until June, 1923, leaving only about $2,300,000 of the "B" notes.

The series "C" notes do not mature until June, 1924, but it is expected this entire amount will be paid off this year out of earnings.

The above is information received by the Glendale Motor Car Company of 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chalmers dealers.

MARKS CLOSE OF FIRST YEAR HERE

Smith's Chevrolet Agency
Celebrates Birthday
On April 1st

April first marked the close of the first year in which C. L. Smith has been in business in Glendale as distributor for the Chevrolet car and a review of the last twelve months has brought to Mr. Smith and his associates a sense of accomplishment and well-earned success that has encouraged every man in the organization.

Starting in the rear of the premises at Kenwood and Broadway with a force of eight men Mr. Smith shortly thereafter moved to his present location at the corner of Orange and Colorado, where he has a handsome building covering a space of 50 by 160 feet, fitted up as a garage and salesroom in a most modern fashion. He has also bought a lot at 1328 South San Fernando road, where he maintains his used car department and where he has also a warehouse for storing his new cars that covers still another lot 50 by 160 feet, giving him a space of 24,000 square feet and that represents, with his other place of business, an investment of $100,000 in Glendale.

The sales for the past year amounted to 675 cars, and the business has been showing a steady advance until today there are twenty-three men on the payroll and even this number is hard pressed at times to attend to all of the work of the agency.

Mr. Smith regards the future of his business as exceptionally bright, as the demand for Chevrolet grows each month and as the merit of the car are realized.

Federal Aid Roadway Works Are Numerous

At the close of 1922, there had been placed under agreement for federal aid, in connection with the Canadian Highway act, 274 projects at an estimated cost of $25,706,991 for 5786 miles of road in the different provinces.

USE OF FORDSON TRACTORS GROWS

Power, Economy Features of Universal Machine for Varied Work

Recent sales of Fordson tractor through the J. E. Smith agency, 125 West Colorado street, demonstrate the fact that people are coming more and more to realize the truth of the claim made by the manufacturer that the Fordson is the universal tractor, according to C. H. DeArge, of the Smith organization. The uses to which the light, but powerful, and economical, Fordson lends itself are endless, running all the way from farm purposes to work on city streets.

Among the recent purchasers of Fordsons are the City of Glendale, The Long Dall Lumber Co., Lounsbury & Harris, A Matthews, the contractor, and several other prospects are expected to close a deal shortly for Fordsons. The ease with which the Fordson transports either freight or passengers, hauling loads out of all proportion to its size, is a matter that is constantly bringing more converts to use the light Fordson in preference to other and heavier makes.

Mr. De Arge also stresses the fact that the Ford is constantly making the world smaller and bringing more people into closer and more intimate relationship, helping the farmer to enjoy a show in town after his day's work, bringing the city dwellers to the beauties of the country, and hauling tourists all over the country safely and economically.

DEALERS SELECT SITE OF MARKET

Appleby Plan's Adoption
Means Early Opening
Of Sales Dept.

Selection of a site for the proposed central automobile market, that is to be established by the Glendale automobile dealers where the used car sales under the Appleby plan can be carried on, is occupying the attention of the local dealers at present, following the decision reached at a meeting this week to adopt the plan as outlined at last week's meeting.

The used car market will be maintained permanently on the site to be selected, and it is expected to prove a boon for local car owners, as well as for the dealers, as it will help to standardize the prices to be paid for used cars and will prevent the market being flooded at any time, to the detriment of the owners who desire to secure as much as possible to apply on the purchase of a new automobile.

The organization of the market is now being worked out and it is expected that it will be in actual operation within the next ten days, when an automobile expert will be placed in charge of it to act as the agent for the public and to aid them in disposing of their used cars.

Approximately 962,000 motor vehicles are licensed in Great Britain. This figure includes 314,000 passenger automobiles, 377,000 motorcycles, 150,000 motor trucks and 77,000 taxis. There are 13,668 licensed motor busses.

BUICK'S BIGGEST SALES IN MARCH

Previous Records Smashed
By Tanner & Hall In Last Month

Figures just compiled by Ray L. Galvin, sales manager for Tanner & Hall, Ltd., 237 South Brand boulevard, Glendale distributors for the Buick automobiles, show that the sales for March reached the high water mark of the records since the Buick agency was established in Glendale over ten years ago. The March figures quoted by Mr. Galvin are all for new cars, the used cars that were disposed of by the firm not being included in the total.

Tanner & Hall were appointed local agents for the Buick line some four years ago, and since then, with a sales organization that has never included more than two men, the firm has built up one of the most important automobile businesses in Glendale, handling a volume of business that is not exceeded by any other organization in the city selling cars in the same general classification as the Buick.

The March sales cover every model put out by the Buick Motor Co., with 45 per cent of the sales being made on closed-end models. The different lines include the touring car, the roadster, the touring sedan and coupe, all of which have been in steady demand from the Buick enthusiasts who are steadily growing in number in and around Glendale. The Buick organization was one of the leaders in the closed car field, sensing the trend of popular favor long in advance of many other manufacturers and taking steps to be prepared to meet it when it developed into the steady demand that exists today, and maintaining its pioneer position in the automobile field, not only in the models turned out but in the many refinements that have been added to the 1923 automobiles and by advances in the engineering department that justified its claim that "When Better Automobiles are Built, Buick Will Build Them".

Shortage Predicted
A large part of the success that has been won by the Tanner & Hall agency is attributed to the enormous output of the Buick factories that enables them to meet the demand as it arises, and to the policy that stands behind every car sold by the Buick nation-wide organization, a policy that guarantees satisfaction to every Buick owner in the United States. This policy, backed by the aggressive selling campaign of Tanner & Hall, has resulted in increasing the business of the local agency from month to month, and has absorbed the entire allotment set aside for the Glendale territory as fast as it could be delivered here.

The growth of the demand, however, is so rapid, Mr. Galvin declares, that a shortage is imminent within the next thirty days, in spite of the insistent requests that the firm has made of the factory for an increase in the allotment for this territory, and he urges that every Buick prospect place his order at once in order that delivery may be assured him within a reasonable time.

Old Auto Tires Used For Heating Purposes

MILFORD, Mass., April 7.—A new and novel kind of fuel to heat the coal kings has been introduced by P. H. Powers, fish dealer, of this city.

Powers uses discarded auto tires which he strips in small pieces and puts in the stove in the same manner as coal. Mrs. Powers declared there is a tremendous heat and no disagreeable odor. The heat produced with the fuel beats any other in point of quickness and strength, she asserted.

If you pay a thousand dollars for a car and have to buy a new one each year, it is at least twice as expensive as a fifteen hundred and fifty dollar car that looks like new at the end of three years.

We believe a Studebaker Sedan is good for five to ten years of useful, satisfactory life. We are not positive as to the real life because none has yet worn out.

If, when you trade in your car, you learn that you can get only three or four hundred dollars for it because there is no second-hand market for that make of car, then you must add this extra depreciation to arrive at the real cost of the car.

The trade-in price of Studebaker cars shows a very small depreciation, in many sections the smallest of all makes of motor cars. And there is always a ready market for used cars of Studebaker manufacture.

Motor car values find their proper levels in used car salesrooms. Visit one and compare Studebaker second-hand prices with others. The result will be illuminating. The built-in value proves itself each thousand miles of use.

Here's Hint When You Put Water in Battery

Never fill the battery with water to too high a level. The water will tend to work through the top, start corrosion of the terminals and quick destruction of the wooden box. The top of the box should be kept dry, and the terminals should be cleaned and covered with vaseline, so that moisture may not collect upon the metal parts.

Clean Motor Is Big Aid Securing Results

Dirt and water are the worst enemies of the mechanical units of a car and the more intricate the machine the greater is the damage. When dirt or dust goes into the gears and other parts mixed with lubricating oil, it makes a dangerous grinding material. Worn bearings, loose parts, lost motion, knocks and breakdowns are the result.

Replacement of Valves Requires Unusual Care

When removing valves from an engine for any purpose, it is of the utmost importance to keep them separate and replace them in the identical seats from which they were removed. Failure to do so will be certain to result in leakage and may cause the clearance between the tappets and stem ends to be wrong.

Weller Measure on Insurance Supported

SACRAMENTO, April 7.—The committee on insurance of the assembly reported out, with the recommendation that it "do pass," a bill by Weller of Los Angeles to limit the number of agents to solicit application for fire and automobile insurance to two in cities of 25,000 or less, and to four in the larger cities for each company.

The bill was bitterly contested by representatives of companies controlled by automobile dealers. The supporters of the bill declared that it would result in giving the purchasers of automobiles on time contracts a voice in the amount and class of insurance written for them, and would lessen the expense of deferred payment purchases.

The automobile men held that the bill would simply force them to enroll their men as brokers instead of agents, which would require a higher license fee and a stricter regulation, and would, therefore, be burdensome.

HINTS FOR THE MOTORIST

Copyright, 1923, by the International Syndicate

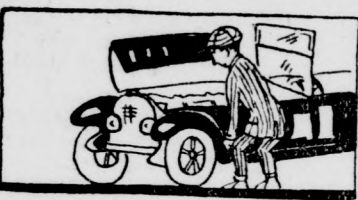

Questions of general interest to the motorist will be answered by Mr. Clough in this column, space permitting. If an immediate answer is desired, enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope.

LENSELESS NON-GLARE HEADLIGHTS

Specially Formed Reflectors to Solve the Road Lighting Problem
Motorists have become so accustomed to the use of prismatic lenses and ground and colored visors as means of preventing headlight glare that these methods have become generally accepted as the only remedy for this evil. That this is not the only solution, is evidenced by the appearance upon some late models of non-glare headlights, which embody neither of these means for absorbing or deflecting the objectionable rays, but make use of plain glasses and of reflectors, the form of which is such as to control the road light in an approved, glareless manner, as well as furnishing the required roadside illumination. Up to this time, the conventional automotive headlight has been of the searchlight type, with the bulb located in the focus of a reflector of parabolic longitudinal cross section, which arrangement projects a very definite, nearly parallel, but slightly spreading conical beam of extremely glaring light and the

TWO CYLINDERS CARBONIZE BADLY

J. A. V. writes: Every time I scrape the carbon out of my engine I find that two of the cylinders need it badly and the other four hardly require it at all. If I could reduce the carbonizing of the two bad ones, I should not need to remove the cylinder head nearly as often. How can I do so?

Answer: The two cylinders which show the most deposits are probably the ones which receive the bulk of the unvaporized gasoline, which reaches the engine, the fact that it goes to these two cylinders being probably attributable to the intake manifolding. If this is not a quite modern engine, it may have inadequate means for heating the incoming mixture, which accounts for the imperfect vaporization. Possibly you could arrange for more manifold heat. You might also see if it is possible to adjust your carburetor somewhat leaner, without too much loss of power. If your two troublesome cylinders over-oil this may partly account for their abnormal carbonization, and if the present rings are not tight, it might be worth while to have new ones installed.

DE-CLUTCHING ON CURVES?

S. H. M. asks: Which do you consider the proper way of running a motor car around a corner, with the clutch engaged or disengaged? Which is the more harmful to the engine?

Answer: With the clutch engaged is the better way. There is no use in throwing out the clutch and it only results in additional effort and wear and tear. The throttle should be so adjusted that a very low engine speed is obtainable—a speed which corresponds to a car speed lower than is ordinarily necessary to secure safety on curves, which will, when made use of, have a braking effect upon the car. Many drivers use the clutch too often, while the skillful operator with an engine capable of being slowed way down, seldom declutches except when shifting gears and bringing his car to a standstill. Throttle control, rather than clutch operation, is the proper method of regulating car speed. Attempts to control car speed by declutching rather than by throttling usually result in racing of the engine which is distinctly harmful.

Struck By Motor Car; Man Refuses to Sue

LINCOLN, Neb., April 7.—"Re-sent not evil."

This saying, which Tolstoy asserted was the epitome of Christian teaching, was strikingly illustrated by Henry Fishbach, head of a Beatrice, Neb., commission house. Fishbach was struck down and seriously injured by Turner Tefft, a young traveling salesman, who hit him at a street intersection in Norfolk while driving his car at a speed alleged to have been forty-six miles an hour. Tefft goes off trial there soon on a charge of reckless driving.

Fishbach, while suffering intense pain from internal injuries in an Omaha hospital, and with his right leg amputated as a result of the accident, was visited by Tefft. Tefft expressed his sorrow for the accident. Fishbach did not rebuke him, but said:

"You are a young man just starting out in life; I have practically lived mine. If I should not recover you would be placed in a situation of trouble that will affect, perhaps, all your future happiness. Only my recovery can save you from facing a criminal charge and I am determined to fight for my life for your sake."

Shortly afterward Fishbach became unconscious and for days hovered between life and death. He finally recovered and is now able to hobble about on crutches.

Fishbach has no intention of prosecuting Tefft. He has completely forgiven the young man. He hopes however, that this tragic experience will be a lesson to drivers generally who are tempted to drive too fast.

OVERLAND SEATS CAN BE REMOVED

Moveable Upholstery Allows Car To Be Used As General Carrier

The Overland car is the only car being manufactured today having removable upholstery and those who drive Overlands realize and talk about the many advantages resulting from such an innovation, says Harry Kennedy, sales manager of George L. Smith, 228 South Brand, Overland, and Willys-Knight agent.

Today the automobile is the "family car" and that application covers a multitude of phases in the everyday life of the average American family. While no one wants to ride in a car with the upholstery removed, there are times when the seat and back cushion of the tonneau can be taken out and the car used as a general carrier of household goods, without any damage being done to the leather.

The method of binding the upholstery in place at the edge of the cushions and around the body is a high class job on the Overland. A patent fastener is used which absolutely does away with the trouble found in upholsterers' tacks, when the heads of these tacks fall out. The coil springs in Overland cushions are held in place at the bottom by metal strips which prevent their becoming displaced by handling and thus allow the corners of the springs to work through the fabric. The edges of the cushions are nicely padded for additional protection.

STUDEBAKERS IN ARGENTINE RACE

Special Six Leads Field in Grueling Contest in South America

A Studebaker Special Six, driven by William T. Burke, won the Gran Premio of Argentine—South America's most important race of the year—against a field which included some of the world's highest priced cars. This race is an annual event held under the auspices of the Argentine Automobile club.

This is the second year in succession that Studebaker has raced to victory in the Gran Premio, according to Stephen C. Packer, Studebaker agent, 245 South Brand boulevard.

The distance was from Buenos Aires to Rosario and return—about 470 miles—and the winner's time, 10 hours, 45 minutes, 35 seconds.

Twenty-six cars were entered in the race, but because of bad roads, only ten of them finished, four of which were Studebakers. A Lincoln, driven by Pedro Malgor, came in second, and a Studebaker Light Six, driven by Paris Gianni, was a close third.

The race is far more than a test of speed—it is a test of sturdy construction and endurance, especially under such driving conditions as were encountered this year. The service to which the cars were subjected was greater than months of ordinary driving, and strikingly demonstrates the stamina possessed by Studebaker cars.

Auto Club Emblems Not Subject to Tax

Automobile club emblems and city name plates are not subject to federal tax, according to a ruling received from Washington by Collector of Internal Revenue Goodell.

At the request of California automobile interests the question was submitted to Commissioner Blair by Collector Goodell. The ruling declares that club emblems are usually attached by members of automobile clubs and other associations to the radiators of their automobiles and the city name tag or town plates are ordinarily used in connection with the regular state license plate.

Inasmuch as the emblems and plates do not in any sense contribute to the utility of an automobile, and further, that their primary use is a means of identification of the owner as a member of the club or city represented by the emblem or plate, rather than ornamentation, even though such emblems harmonize with the finish or beauty of the automobile it is held that such plates are not subject to tax as automobile accessories.

Nash Motorcar Company To Seek Site For Coast Plant; Here's Chance For Glendale

By GIL A. COWAN

Glendale has the opportunity to obtain an automobile assembling plant—that of the Nash Motorcar company, Kenosha, Wis.—manufacturers of the Nash cars.

For that matter every other city on the Pacific coast is expected to bid for this great industry, following the announcement by Charles W. Nash, president of the concern, at a luncheon tendered him by the Rotary club of Sacramento last Thursday, that the purpose of his present tour of the west coast is to select a site to handle the steadily increasing business.

"There is no reason why automobile factories should not exist in California," he said. "Already the Chevrolet, Star, Durant and Ford companies have plants in Oakland while Los Angeles has a Ford assembling plant."

No reason why Glendale should not step to the front and make Mr. Nash a most attractive offer.

Leads Whole World
California has an automobile for every 4.1 person, according to Mr. Nash. It leads the world in this respect. According to Will H. Marsh registrations of motor vehicles in this state is now close to the million mark.

"The auto industry is doing more than its share in supporting the government," according to Mr. Nash, who quoted figures from his own plant to prove the point. Since starting operations four years ago they have paid out $17,000,000 in wages and a similar amount in taxes.

Calls Tax Unfair
"It is the only industry manufacturing essentials on which the government continues to place a special tax of 5 per cent," he stated, adding that $100,000,000 annually are collected from this source of revenue. In his opinion, it is unfair and discriminatory.

Mr. Nash favors a sales tax on everything manufactured. In order to obtain this and other practical legislation he appeals for the election of "honest-to-God" business men to public office."

Auto Builders Press Production to Limit

DETROIT, Mich., April 7.—With the closing of the last automobile shows all Detroit plant executives have returned and are devoting every effort to increase production to the limit. The first of April finished the industry turning out automobiles at the highest rate of its history, with every single plant operating at capacity. Practically every plant in the Middle-West is behind on orders with demands for cars pouring in from all parts of the country.

While the rail situation has improved somewhat most plants are depending largely on driveaways, about 20 per cent of the output being delivered in this manner.

Rumors of price increases persist. Mounting costs of materials and manufacturing, coupled with a scarcity of skilled labor to meet current requirements, will compel a price advance, it is said, even though many manufacturers are not in favor of such a move. A price increase by one of the leading manufacturers will be followed by a like move on the part of other makers, but it may not be general.

Insurance Bill Hits California Dealers

The automobile dealers' associations of Los Angeles, San Diego, and San Francisco have registered a strong protest against the passage of Assembly Bill No. 592, introduced by Assemblyman Edwin Baker of Los Angeles. This bill takes away the right of automobile dealers to write insurance on the cars they sell. Opponents of the bill state that fully 85 per cent of the automobiles are sold on payments and it is claimed business has been best met by the young Los Angeles companies.

Four Los Angeles automobile insurance companies, affected by the passage of this bill, collected nearly $2,000,000 last year and every cent remained in California. Had there been no companies here most of the money would have been taken out of the state.

Jail for Speeders or No Driving of Car

Automobile speeders found guilty of driving faster than thirty miles and hour in Cleveland, Ohio, have the alternative of serving minimum sentences in right to use their cars for from thirty days to six months.

Massachusetts and Maine observe Patrons' day, April 19.

START NEW AUTO SERVICE STATION

Oils, Gasoline and Other Needs of Motorists Are Cared for

The Broadway Auto Super Service Station is the name of the new auto service station recently started by Messrs. C. H. Messenger, F. R. Pierce and F. A. Pratt, at the corner of Cedar and East Broadway, Glendale.

In addition to operating an up-to-date oil station, where Hercules gasoline and the best quality motor oils will be handled, a well selected line of auto accessories and tires will be kept in stock. A battery department will also be conducted as well as service on auto lubrication and washing.

While all the proprietors of this new enterprise are experienced in their line of work, C. H. Messenger and F. R. Pierce, are particularly well known by Glendale motorists, having been connected with the W. H. Hooper Co. at the corner of East Broadway and Louise.

May Flowers Sure To Nod Their Greeting

April showers in Southern California are bringing May flowers for motorists to enjoy. According to an announcement from the Automobile Club of Southern California the desert regions of this part of the state are in blossom at this time of the year.

Wild flowers are not as profuse this season on the desert as they were last. Word received from the club touring bureau from the vicinity of Palm Springs and other desert points informs motorists that this year's flowers are very beautiful to behold.

In the mountain districts wild flowers are at their best in April and hundreds of motoring parties are enjoying them to the utmost. In the mountains of San Gabriel county and Santa Barbara county hundreds of varieties of wild flowers can be seen. Auto Club representatives visiting the vicinity of Pine Hills and San Diego county report acres of beautiful flowers.

A Touch of Spring

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY
Ad Schuster

Every spring Mrs. Crandall Willis eyed her stout and middle-aged husband for symptoms of temperament and wondered what it would be this time. Generally she smiled indulgently at the whims which seized the usually placid man with the opening of the buds and the coming of the birds, but for all of that, she admitted it was trying.

"Last year," she confided to a friend, "he was taken with the idea of traveling the highways with a donkey. It was like Stevenson, he said, the true way to commune with the outdoors. It did not last long, and after it was over there was a siege of arnica and sunburn lotion and a long period during which one must not mention the existence of any creature even remotely resembling a donkey. Other years it had been bad. Once he set out to be a sailor, again a troubadour, and there was the never-to-be-forgotten year when he entered a forest without provisions and very little clothes, determined to emerge well clothed and well fed by the exertion of his own wits and two arms. The trouble with Crandall was he never learned."

This year Crandall acted more restless than ever, but he hid the nature of his yearnings. He took to writing, to reading the poets, and to walking out alone on the moonlit evenings. The wife watched and waited and decided that this was the most serious attack of all.

Perhaps it was. To the benevolent appearing Crandall Willis it was almost a catastrophe. Here he was in middle years, respectable and—she smiled when he thought of it—he was in love. If this were known in Wallchester there would be a scandal. Catherine, his wife, would leave him. No one would understand. So Crandall Willis walked alone under the stars and feasted his romantic soul with the idea he was young again and the lover.

For a time Mrs. Phipps, the newcomer to town and a widow harbored no suspicion that the funny-looking man who happened to meet her so many times on the street felt toward her anything more than a neighborly spirit. She smiled at the sprightliness he put in his talk, the odd little skips he inserted in his walk, and his courtly almost old-world manner. Then she began to receive his letters.

For a time the widow did not associate the unsigned letters with the stout little man of her acquaintance. Then he became bolder and signed his name, and even asked her if she had received the missives. Still she took it all as a harmless joke, and would have continued to consider it lightly had not the notes assumed a fervent tone. Then she met Mrs. Willis and learned something of the man's upright reputation. Mrs. Phipps wondered long, and ended by tying together the letters Crandall had sent her and mailed them to the wife.

"Let her settle the question and the husband," she said to herself. Goodness knows, I can't have him howling and scraping wherever I go."

The blow fell in the home of Crandall Willis. This was the first time the temperament of the romantic Crandall had taken this turn, and the wife, with the bundle of letters, retired to her room to plan her course of action.

"And I always thought him the devoted lover," she sighed. "I have forgiven him so many things, and looked after him as I would a child. And who could see what there is in Mrs. Phipps to attract anyone?"

The wife read over the letters the other woman had received, then looked out of the window into the gathering dusk. Crandall Willis approached his home whistling vigorously and stepping out as a man of importance. She knew by his air that this latest touch of spring fever was over. He would be safe now, and sane. For another year, she thought of the letters again, and smiled. "Anyhow," she said, "it wasn't Mrs. Phipps. It was just the idea, the sentimental, romantic idea which appealed to him. The letters prove he wasn't really in love."

For the letters Crandall Willis had sent to Mrs. Phipps were faithful copies of those he had sent to his wife twenty years ago. (Copyright, 1923, George Matthew Adams)

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and full address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in this column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest.

"Dear Doctor: I started to gain a year ago when I weaned my baby. I weighed 150 pounds at that time. Now I weigh 185 pounds and am only 21 years old. Isn't that awful? I tried to diet last summer but I did not lose an ounce. For a week I ate nothing but vegetables and fruit and drank nothing but water. For the next three weeks I added two slices of whole wheat bread to my daily diet. "At the end of that time I found that I had not lost an ounce. I had plenty of exercise, too. But I could not lose weight. Will you please help me? Mrs. R. L."

It is experiences such as Mrs. L. has had that make many people believe diet has nothing to do with overweight. However, we who are wise on this subject know the weak point here, which is that even vegetables and fruit have calories concealed in their make-up, and you can get fat on fruit and vegetables just as surely as on pies and potatoes if you consume enough of them to exceed your needs. So, Mrs. L., you must have exceeded the speed limit. While vegetables and fruits have fewer calories, comparatively, than other foods, if you eat too many of them they will register as fat. Did you send for our pamphlet on reducing? It explains the calories and having a knowledge of calories (food units) and eating fewer of them than your system needs, is the only intelligent way to control your weight.

"Dear Dr. Lulu: I have reduced from 235 to 195 pounds and expect to keep on until I get down to about 150, which is my correct weight. I surely am grateful to you. I wrote some time ago asking for one of your pamphlets on reducing, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor. (Copyright, 1923, George Matthew Adams)

ing for one of my friends, but I failed to send the s. a. s. e. and four cents in stamps, so I am enclosing it. Your devoted follower, L. B."

Forty pounds lost and fifty to go. My word, but you were some overweight, weren't you? I advise you to stay on your maintenance diet now and not lose any more for two or three weeks; then begin again on the fifty pounds.

K. S.—Put yourself under the care of a stomach specialist. Cut out your cigarettes and your patent medicines. Until you can get to or to answer you personally, I advise you to go on a gruel made of rice and water. Cook the rice until it is of a smooth, pasty consistency and add a little butter to it. Take eight ounces every three hours for three or four days. That will be good for your extreme hyperacidity, according to Kellogg.

Mr. S.—You should see a throat specialist for your trouble. You say you have had it two years. That is at least 23 months too long to go without receiving attention. Monday—Elements Needed by the System. (Copyright, 1923, George Matthew Adams)

Gilded Weathercock

On Church 200 Years

STRAFORD, Conn., April 7.—The golden weathercock that sways atop the steeple of Christ Episcopal church here has an extra bright appearance these days, and throngs of motorists passing along Boston Post Road where the church is located cast an extra glance at the bird which has taken the eye of passers-by these many years. For the "bird" will be two centuries old in December. On March 21, the parish celebrated the two hundredth anniversary of its first minister's ordination.

Found, despite opposition of the Congregational colony of Connecticut, under the guidance of members of Old Trinity (New York) vestry, by men who paid the heavy fines inflicted by the colony judges, Christ Church was erected in 1823 and the weathercock time became a landmark at once. During the Revolution British soldiers, forbidden to despoil the church of their king took pot shots at the "rooster" from the road as they passed and knocked it askew besides putting holes through it.

While the "bird" is as good as new today, a wealthy congregation containing families whose names are known throughout the land, worship beneath its roosting place, proud of the fact that theirs is the oldest Episcopal church in Connecticut, and equally proud of the quaint old weathercock.

Alaska is an Indian word meaning "great country."

FOOD VALUES

We were talking last week about food as fuel for the human body, and particularly about the chemists of a century ago who first measured food values by its calories and began experimenting with scientific diet. Scientists during the French revolution knew meat was protein and that gelatine was protein also, so tried to feed the poor who could not buy meat on a gelatin substitute. The results were disastrous and many sick people died. A long time after it was discovered that gelatine is deficient in two things called "amino-acids," known as tyrosine and tryptophan. Dogs fed on gelatine alone grew sickly, dogs fed on gelatine plus these two amino-acids remained in normal health.

To try and diet scientifically, therefore, is a complicated process. You must know a great deal of the science of food to be able successfully to substitute one food for another. You can take carbohydrates, fats, mineral salts and protein in large quantities and still not have enough to eat, for your system may require some little ingredient not contained in the diet you have set yourself.

All this may look discouraging. My advice to you, frankly, is to forget most of the scientific chatter now heard on all sides unless you want to go into the subject thoroughly. Eat fresh foods as much as possible, things that come in green from the garden, and drink milk that is fresh and pure, eat fruit, and meat in moderation, and you will be fairly sure then that you are getting the vitamines and amino-acids essential to good nourishment. Then if your food does not seem to agree with you, ask the man of science to help you out.

Pearl—While this condition of your skin is discouraging just now, I think you can count on it as a temporary thing, since many girls of your age are bothered in the same way. Eat sparingly of candy or other rich sweets and continue the daily bath.

Roselle B.—The benefit derived from using the vibrator is that of quickening the circulation. When giving the treatment for the complexion there should be only the lightest touch of the nozzle on the skin; and when passing around the eyes or over the lids always cover your eyes with the fingers of your free hand and then run the nozzle over these so the current is reduced in strength. There will be enough current pass between the fingers to do all that is needed and without any risk to the eyes.

The scalp vibration should be the other extreme, as a strong current and a deep treatment give the best results, for the scalp usually needs a great deal of stimulation to maintain a healthy circulation.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

Just think, the women have really done it!

For almost the first time in fashion history, women have stood out firmly against having a fashion put over on them.

I am proud of my sex. We have reached the point where we do know what we want when we want it, and don't mean to be balked of having it by any fashion dictator.

According to Their Use True, some skirts will be long. But we aren't all going to be cabined, cribbed and confined by long skirts on the street and in our sports. We aren't going to sweep up dust and germs. We are going to pick and choose. We shall wear long frocks in the house (and it is my personal feeling that they are more becoming to nine women out of ten), and when we go shopping or walking we are going to wear our short skirts.

A man who is connected with one of the most progressive stores in the East, commented the other day on this diversity of style as a new sign of the times. Styles aren't so rigid as they used to be. There was a time when practically everyone wore one type of hat in a certain season. Now, although there are trends and popular types and fashionable silhouettes, there is no one type of hat or suit or frock that everyone wears. We choose and adapt from many styles and it is possible to be smart and still have things entirely suitable and becoming. No one needs to wear unbefitting fashions—though many still do, either because they prefer ultra-smartness to becomingness, or because they don't study the matter at all.

Everyone Gave It Away Of course the corollary of this variation in styles is that last year's hat is not as distinctively and inescapably last year's hat as it was when it was the one kind that everybody wore last year and that everyone who could afford it gave away to the poor relative or the washerwoman this year.

Another thing I like about the fashion situation is that more and more of our women are coming to realize what good lines in a frock or coat mean, and to try to get them. When we used to bise ourselves in the middle with waists and skirts there wasn't much chance for beauty of line. But with the general popularity of the one-piece frock we have a chance to develop beautiful lines

A Reader Friend has written me to say that salads are a nuisance to make. In reply I ask, "Are they more of a nuisance than illness?"

Salads are health-giving. This is why. It is our natural tendency to eat more acid-forming foods than alkali-forming foods. Our stomachs must have the alkali-forming foods to balance the acid-forming ones. All foods which contain vitamins are alkali-forming. If we don't eat these vitamin foods in abundance we are apt to have "acid stomachs" and other illnesses.

The alkali-forming foods are: Salads (not only lettuce and romaine, but all greens and raw vegetables cut up and served with a dressing to make them attractive). Fresh fruits. Whole wheat in both cereal form and potatoes steamed in their jackets (the valuable minerals in the potato lie close under the skin, and these minerals are lost when potatoes are boiled, pared. But they are retained in baked and steamed potatoes. That is why my menus call so frequently for baked potatoes). Whole milk. Natural brown rice, cornmeal ground from the whole grain. Unpeeled barley. Buckwheat and rye flour made from the whole grain. The yolks of eggs. All fresh vegetables.

The acid-forming foods are: White bread, polished rice, potatoes, cornstarch, denatured cornmeal, pearled barley, white cereals made from refined wheat (that is, wheat without the husk), cheese, the whites of eggs, lard, meat (especially salt meat), fish, all refined sugars, macaroni, tapioca, denatured buckwheat and rye flour, and all white-flour products such as pastry, biscuits and crackers.

These lists show why salads are necessary—as well as all other alkali-forming foods. My menus call constantly for wholewheat bread for the same reason. Where white bread is used, some vitamin foods must be served in the same meal—such as fruit, a salad, fresh vegetables, milk, etc.

So, this spring and summer let us have plenty of salads on our home table. Two salads a day are not too much. Growing children become sturdy through eating plenty of the alkali-forming foods, and adults remain healthy—or regain their health. Just try it.

No Anarchists In The Church

THERE is such a tendency today to hold all laws lightly. The spirit of the republic is that we govern ourselves through those whom we elect. There is a great responsibility, then, in voting intelligently and in supporting the laws that are passed.

Some men who would not steal or lie or countenance stealing or lying in others, wink at law breaking, which is virtually breaking our word as citizens. This or that law may not seem to us to be just or fair and it may not be a good law, yet the breaking of it is virtual anarchy.

This tendency to evade and break laws is a dangerous one. It threatens the very stability of the republic. Thinking men everywhere see and deplore this condition and admit that something must be done if the government is to endure. Men and women must obey the laws of city, state and nation because they, as citizens, enjoying the benefits of the republic, are pledged to do so. They must obey the laws because they are laws. If legislation is really unjust this condition will soon right itself.

Anarchists would destroy all government because the government they are concerned with is not ideal. That is what all law-breakers are doing.

The church is the one institution today that is trying to inculcate in the minds of men, women and children, the desire and the determination to do right for right's sake, not because the police may be looking. The influence of the church is thrown on the side of law observance. As a good citizen you should recognize the work the church is doing in the perpetuation of our government.

I am for a Greater Glendale, first, last and all the time; one that will make other cities look up and take notice that we are on the map. To accomplish this it is absolutely necessary that we should have the most efficient management that it is possible to attain, and our tax levies should be just and equitable.

We must figure for the future, because our fair city is bound to grow by leaps and bounds. The sewer proposition must have prompt attention. Street work must have careful consideration, and we must have lower transportation.

We must not forget the boys and girls of our city. They should and must be provided with well managed and equipped playgrounds and recreation centers, where they can enjoy healthful and pleasant recreations which they need, and keep them at home in our own city, instead of sending them off to other places for their pleasures, where the influences may not be for the best.

TODAY—Roland Krebs, Chicago correspondent, writes of popular stamping grounds frequented by followers of night life in the mid-west metropolis.

CHICAGO, April 7.—There is an expensive waffle shop on the fashionable North Shore of Chicago where at a certain hour of the morning one finds nearly all the patrons either just plain drunk or else slightly lathered. They bring no liquor with them, nor is it served to them, yet the phenomenon persists.

Here's how it is: After an all-night party it's considered the smart thing to do to drop in at this shop for breakfast just before sunrise. No matter if the brave men and fair women have been disporting themselves in alcoholic aquariums downtown the party's a flop if it doesn't begin to taper off over the bacon and eggs in this establishment.

So 3 a. m. finds the merry-makers speech-making, wearing tin-cans, singing and posing back and forth song and quip, with not a drop in sight.

It's an all-night place, and, strangely, male waiters do not succeed (the waitresses at a late hour, as is the case in most places employing women for that purpose in daylight hours). However, the management has its prettiest girls on duty in the afternoon and early evening, but after the midnight hours waitresses whom rounders call lady blacksmiths because of their proportions and hostile demeanor hand out black java for shaky heads. They permit no one to get "fresh."

The younger element of Chicago has introduced other innovations. Just now its favorite dance rendezvous is in a place called "The Stables," situated on the Chicago River's banks and sandwiched in between factories, warehouses and a warehouse. It just reeks with stables.

"The Stables" is another place at which elaborate parties get their second part of the evening, or rather, early morning.

Taxicabs plow through a goosy mire in the unkempt streets and build up to a shabby roof of a building before which parades an archaic negro, with silk hat, red muffer, wine-hued greatcoat, plastered with powder, buttons, and carrying a red lantern.

Inside there is a stall, festively decorated with prongs, halters, and the like, and a sign: "Check your harness here." It's the cloak room. "Upstairs a negro jazz-band holds forth. The lights all are shaded, and candles, dripping with chilled wax and stuck into greasy old bottles, dimly illuminate the tables. The walls are smoked and chalked with the initials of guests. Broken windows are stuffed with red flannels. Oh, yes, it's atmospheric enough! However, evening dress is the custom. Prices are adjusted accordingly.

No one thinks of going before dawn. The patronage is of the heaviest, as a string of taxicabs waiting in the streets at late hours indicates.

People who dance, dance all night in Chicago. Quite the opposite of "The Stables" is the "Bal" given each Saturday night in a downtown hotel. It's a very elaborate affair and is frequented by local and national celebrities.

The "Bal" is a favorite haunt for aristocrats of the theatrical world. It is conducted much like a supper club. Memberships must be obtained as in a club. Invitations are restricted.

Musical is furnished from midnight until daybreak by an orchestra famous for its phonograph records.

This city is so dance-mad that money once invested in theaters now is put into ballrooms all over the town. North Side and South Side alike have many of these places. Each tries to outdo the other in furnishings, luxuries and entertainment. There are only a few downtown and in the near-downtown. Most of them draw their patronage from surrounding neighborhood sections. Their popularity is so great that lamentations from downtown theatrical producers fill pages in national weeklies devoted to the show business. It is notable that all season Chicago has not had a play or musical show that could be called a "Wow." Those that New York called "Wows" came here full of giddy hope and turned out to be "Dunks." The city is too busy dancing.

Jazz Music Is Social Disease, Says Speaker

SANTA ANA, April 7.—Jazz music is a "social disease." The State Federation of Music Clubs in their fifth annual convention here heard the modern, or so-called popular melodies so characterized by J. V. Breitwieser, A. N. Ph. D., of the department of education of Berkeley.

"When the people of the United States catch up with emotion as they do with intellect, the correct sense of musical balance will be restored and maintained, and jazz will disappear. Jazz causes mental and physical deterioration," he said.

Professor Breitwieser said he spoke as a student of psychology and not as a musician. He told of his experiments with 800 students at the state university during the past six months and of the marked mental and spiritual deterioration under the continued influence of jazz.

Krupp Directors Are Blamed for Shooting

ESSEN, April 7.—General Jacquemot, commander of the Seventy-seventh French division, which holds Essen, replying today to the acting mayor's protest against the shooting of Krupp workers last Saturday, declared the "entire responsibility falls upon the Krupp directors."

French military balloons made their first appearance in the Ruhr near Bochum. They were apparently on scout duty.

IONIZATION OF VACUUM TUBE

In the earlier use of the vacuum tubes it would seem an advantage to have ionization by collision, as described in the preceding articles, because a larger plate current can be obtained, but there are two difficulties which have proved so great that tubes are now usually made to have only a pure electron flow—that is, with as high a degree of vacuum as possible. One of these difficulties is the rapid deterioration of the filament when a large plate current flows. The positively charged parts of the atoms are driven violently against the negatively charged filament and since they are much more massive than electrons, this bombardment, so to speak, actually seems to wear away the surface of the filament. Another disadvantage of tubes of poor vacuum is that too large a battery voltage may cause a "blue glow" discharge. This action applies more particularly to the efficiency of "three element tubes," which will be discussed in our next article.

The tubes we have described were the first used in radio practice and after their developer are called "Fleming valves," but the credit for their real origin undoubtedly belongs to Edison who studied the effect, but left it to Fleming to devise methods for its use.

Another type, known as the "tungsar" tube, is utilized for charging storage batteries from 110-volt alternating current source, acting as an excellent rectifier. This type contains rarefied argon gas and relatively large currents are produced through ionization by collision in the manner previously described. (Continued in next issue)

Offer Testimony in Murder Trial of Two

LOS ANGELES, April 7.—Dramatically recounting the finding of a blood soaked hat and automobile rug under the Mesa bridge, John Smith, colored, gave the first evidence before Superior Judge McCormick in the trial of Harry Kris and Forrest Cecil Mingle, alias J. W. Allen, accused of the murder of Nicholas Dabellch, October 16. Dabellch was an Oakland cafe owner.

Following Smith, Walter Blue, of Sacramento was called to testify to the identification of the body. Blue, with the slain man's widow, came to Los Angeles upon advice of Sacramento officials after local police, unable to secure a positive identification, had ordered the body interred.

Kris, jointly accused with Mingle, was said today to have made a statement damaging to the cause of the defense shortly after his arrest.

Arrest Writer in Case Of Dr. Louis Jacobs

SAN DIEGO, April 7.—Otis J. Smith, former newspaperman, was arrested today and charged with a misdemeanor in connection with the case of Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, on trial for the murder of Fritz Mann, beautiful dancer. District Attorney Kempey caused the arrest after it was charged Smith had attempted to intimidate a witness.

Smith confessed to the district attorney that he was employed by defense attorneys to interview important prosecution witnesses. Posing as a feature writer, he talked with Miss Billy Minor, the nurse employed by the Camp Kearny army physician to attend Fritz Mann, and threatened her with prosecution as a co-conspirator in performing a criminal operation, it was said.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S APRIL FOOL. Uncle Wiggily looked carefully over the table as he came down to breakfast in his hollow stump bungalow one morning. The bunny gentleman daintily tasted a little bit of the white stuff in the sugar bowl before he put any in his carrot coffee.

"What's the matter?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in surprise. "I thought maybe it was salt instead of sugar," answered Uncle Wiggily.

"Why in the world should I put salt in the sugar bowl, pray tell me?" asked the muskrat lady housekeeper.

"On account of April Fool," replied Uncle Wiggily, with a funny little twinkle of his pink nose. "Of course, it isn't exactly April Fool's day, but it will be tomorrow and

"Nonsense!" exclaimed Nurse Jane. "As if I had time to bother with such silly stuff! Behave yourself, Wiggily!" But, all the same, when a little later Uncle Wiggily called:

"Nurse Jane! Come and see your friend, Mrs. Twistytail the lady pig. I think she's coming here!" Nurse Jane was thinking much about the day of jokes that she asked:

"You're not April Fooling me, are you?" "Of course, I wouldn't do such a thing!" answered the bunny. And it was Mrs. Twistytail, all right.

Uncle Wiggily was thinking so much about the squirrel boy tricks the animal children might play on him that he was very careful when he went out a little later. He heard a voice behind him calling:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! What's on your coat?" "Ha! Ha! Billy Bushytail!" laughed the rabbit gentleman, for he saw it was the squirrel boy calling. "You needn't think you can April Fool me. I know what is on my coat—buttons, of course!"

"No, honestly, there's a big white piece of cloth on the back of your coat, Uncle Wiggily!" chattered Billie. "Here, I'll take it off!"

And really the cloth was there, looking rather odd. Nurse Jane had sewed a button on Uncle Wiggily's coat just before he went out and the cloth, from her work basket, caught on the rabbit's coat by mistake. So it wasn't an April Fool joke after all.

"Thank you, Billie," said the bunny gentleman; "here's a penny." Then the squirrel boy was glad he hadn't played a joke on Uncle Wiggily as he intended to. The rabbit gentleman hopped on a bit farther and met Uncle Butter, the goat.

"Here's something for you to take to Nurse Jane," said Uncle Butter to Uncle Wiggily, handing the rabbit a box.

"Ah, April Fool, I suppose," said the bunny with a sly look. "I hardly know," blurted Uncle Butter. "My wife, Aunt Lettie, is sending it to Nurse Jane. I hardly think it is April Fool, though."

"Well, all right," said Uncle Wiggily doubtfully. "But I must be very careful. I wonder what's in that box?" he thought, as he looked at the paper in which it was wrapped. "I'll tear a little hole in and look. It would never do to April Fool Nurse Jane."

When Uncle Wiggily tore off a little of the wrapping paper he saw the word EARS on the box. "Oh, it is an April Fool!" thought the bunny. "I don't know whether to give it to Nurse Jane or not. How can ears be in that box? I wonder—"

Just then there was a black shadow behind Uncle Wiggily and a big paw reached over his shoulder, taking away the box. Uncle Butter had given him, while a voice growled:

"I'll take those! Ears are what I want. I suppose you put your ears in that box to April Fool me. I'll take them!" And the Bob Cat reached over and snatched away the box. Uncle Wiggily was much surprised, but while the Bob Cat was opening the box hoping to get ears to nibble, the bunny gentleman ran away. And when

A big paw reached over his shoulder.

The Bob Cat had taken off all the paper on the box, what do you suppose he found inside? Not Uncle Wiggily's ears, of course, for they were safely under the bunny's tail silk hat. But in the box was a pair of SHEARS. Wasn't that funny? The first two letters of the name were covered, making it look like EARS.

"Fooled again!" howled the Bob Cat, as he stuck himself on the pointed shears which Aunt Lettie had sent to Nurse Jane. "Fooled again!"

And a good April Fool, too! laughed Uncle Wiggily. "A good April Fool!" Then Uncle Wiggily played some tricks on the animal boys and girls and they played some on him and they all had fun.

And if the chair doesn't try to stand on one leg and dance with the other three on top of the dining room table, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the April puddle.

GOVERNOR HITS AT POLITICIANS

Those in Guise of Educators
Get Hard Raps From Executive

SACRAMENTO, April 7.—In one of the most vigorous expressions that has emanated from the office of a governor of California in many years, Friend W. Richardson yesterday denounced politicians in the schools and warned the people of California that "politicians in the guise of educators" are responsible for placing "the whole school structure in danger."

The governor prefaced his comment on the political situation in the schools with a straightforward and forceful statement of his own attitude toward education, in which he said:

"I am a strong advocate of the public schools as anyone, I believe in their worth. I know they are the foundation of our government. Every teacher has my sympathetic support and appreciation. I stand strongly for good pay for teachers."

While expressing confidence in the great body of teachers and in the value of the educational system of the State, the Governor believes that "the time has come when the schools of California must be put on a business basis; when real education must be given to children and when political educators must be dethroned."

Claims Extravagance
"The people are coming to know," he said, "that reckless extravagance has characterized the management of the schools, and that our children are being taught to spend foolishly and unwisely instead of to save, to practice economy and to follow the sensible doctrines of Benjamin Franklin. With the excessive taxes loaded upon the people for school purposes there has been no corresponding increase in school efficiency."

"During the last few weeks I have been asking parents the results of the teaching their children are receiving. The answers have been that their children are getting a smattering of many subjects, but know little of any; that they cannot spell, cannot write legibly and cannot do simple problems, and that high taxes, extravagances and spending are advocated and even the smallest not used for spreading political propaganda."

Local School Payroll
"Politicians under the guise of educators have loaded the school payroll with unnecessary employees, have bought recklessly at public expense and have piled the tax load so high upon the people that the whole school structure is in danger."

The governor then proceeds in no uncertain language to assert: "There must be a return to sane methods and economical administration. The political oligarchy in control of the schools must be unhorsed. For the good of the schools there must be a change. The schools are top-heavy with unnecessary supervision and high-priced and useless spendthrifts. The elimination of these unnecessary barnacles will result in freeing the teachers from the annoyances of their overlords and give them more time for teaching. I have great confidence in the teachers of California. I believe they are doing their best. I believe, if freed from the political highups, they can do better."

Abundant Provision
Concerning his budget recommendations for the schools for the next two years, which approximate $50,000,000, Governor Richardson said:

"The budget makes abundant provision for the public schools of California. It maintains the state's full share of teachers' salaries and provides well for the children."

The revised appropriations recommended by the Governor for various educational activities will be sent to the Assembly and Senate Ways and Means Committee Monday, along with various other adjustments in the original budget.

COMMENT That's All

Rains Are Worth Much
Timber Shortage In U. S.
Wobblies Favor Repeal
I. W. W. and K. K. K. Alike?

By Gil A. Cowan

NEVER in the history of the state have rains come at such an opportune time as they have this April.

While water supply is a problem for Southern California during a period of years, the lack of rainfall in the central and northern sections of the state any year means an acute financial situation. Rain is worth dollars and cents to ranchers who do not depend on irrigation. And droughted ranchers mean the loss of dollars and cents to the merchants.

So you can see that the news service reports of millions of dollars' worth of benefits accruing from the Easter week rains are not in the least exaggerated, even if it did dampen the ardor of many of our citizens to make a pilgrimage to the mountain top.

While Washington officials are shouting from the housetops that the United States is facing a timber shortage, the senate committee in our own state dabbles with a constitutional amendment designed to overcome one of the large difficulties in the matter of reforestation.

Senator A. Burlingame Johnson of Pasadena introduced the measure which would make it possible for the state to exempt from taxation, also reimburse counties for the loss, lands which are being reforested. It is a most commendable and wise provision.

But immediately the question arises. Why do not the owners of forest lands do this themselves? It is a great idea, but like many other idle dreams of castles in the air it does not work out. Instead, timbering interests let their cut over lands revert to the state.

Senator Johnson would place a premium on growing timber lands, providing it had been reforested under the direction of the state. It may be looked upon by narrow-minded and socialist representatives as a subsidy, yet the fact remains it is the only feasible means to work out a serious problem.

The American public has in many instances shown a desire to cut off its nose to spite its face. The duly elected representatives did so with the ship subsidy and it is not improbable they will do so with this reforestation act.

And only the other night the writer heard the secretary of the state federation of labor—an organization at war with the I. W. W. plead that the criminal syndicalism law be repealed. Perhaps he did not desire to mention that the labor unions are glad to have some organization to which they may consign their radicals. Also, with I. W. W. in the field and the labor union methods the look tame in comparison, for they are quite peaceable nowadays. And much of the legislation they seek is commendable.

Yet we doubt that the rank and file of workers want the criminal syndicalism law repealed, for it would mean the flooding of this state by "wobblies" who would so disturb labor conditions that an honest, law abiding man would be unable to make a living.

So you can see that if so called "big business" controls our legislature it is equally as shortsighted as the matter of reforestation as organized labor in the matter of communism.

In the debate on criminal syndicalism an issue appeared of which the public should take cognizance. Assemblyman William Hornblower could not distinguish between the K. K. K. and the I. W. W.

And it is to be hoped that legislation directed at the Klan is passed by this legislature. The Badaracco bill would make it a felony to wear a mask for the purpose of concealing one's identity. We all know that when the Klansmen are unmasked the public's reception will be such as to cause them to sever all connections with the organization.

Klansmen, unlike those participating in a social revolution, are not of martyr stock. They are principally dambuffs with ten dollars to spare. However, the exceptions prove the rule and we must express the greatest sympathy for those who have joined Simmons' crew for a noble purpose. They are bound to be disappointed.

April, the name, is supposed by some to come from Aperi, "I open," as marking the time of bursting buds of trees and flowers, but the popular idea is that it was named after Aphrodite.

Afternoon club and the Glendale Music club.

Outlines Program
Mrs. Gibson was a speaker on Friday noon at a luncheon of music teachers, and she gave an extensive outline of the activities of local musical organizations.

In outlining the activities of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club she told of the regular programs of the section, of the "Old-Fashioned Garden" presented before both the Tuesday Afternoon and Glendale Music clubs under the able direction of Mrs. Warren Roberts, of the purchase of the grand piano for the new clubhouse and of the big benefit concert and other benefit affairs to raise funds for purchasing the piano.

Activities of the Glendale Music club she recited as the regular programs and the junior and juvenile organizations and their programs, and the annual memory contest, which the music club members handle without burdening the school teachers in any way, and the annual program given by the junior musicians for the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon club.

CONTEST WON BY GLENDALE YOUTH

Paul Hutchinson Victor in Oratory Competition
Over 20 Rivals

Paul Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hutchinson of 246 North Orange street, yesterday won over twenty contestants in an oratorical contest held at the University of California, southern branch, and was chosen official delegate to represent his university in the big inter-collegiate debating match to be held at Redlands, May 1, when representatives of seven southern California universities and colleges will meet.

As Paul Hutchinson is a first-year student at the university this honor he has gained is, indeed, a singular one. The topic given him for his composition and address was: "Resolved, that the United States should be the leader in some sort of league to prevent wars."

This topic is similar in theme to the one that enabled Paul Hutchinson to win the Southern California debating championship for the Glendale Union high school, when he was a student there.

Correct measurement within a distance of a millionth of an inch is possible with two so-called glass flats whose surfaces are perfect planes and a fixed or known gauge.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR YEAR MAY BE 10 MILLION

Superintendent at Head of City Department Declares There Is Every Indication New Record for Glendale Will Be Reached

TEN MILLION dollars' worth of building will be started this year in Glendale! This prediction is made optimistically by Harry C. Vandewater of 634 North Central avenue, superintendent of the building department at the city hall.

"The way things look," he remarked recently, "during the next ninety days there will be started two million dollars' worth of big buildings alone."

Mr. Vandewater stated that he knew of two contemplated business buildings which will cost half a million dollars each. He stated that he was not at liberty to divulge their builders or their locations. He has been assured, however, that there is no doubt as to their construction.

"I would almost be willing to say that the next four months will average a million dollars apiece," he asserted. "Each month may not come up to a million but I think they will average a million."

Predicts New Record

If this opinion is correct, then Glendale's permits by the end of July will amount to over $6,000,000—or equal to the entire total last year. This would leave five months in which to pass last year's record.

In regard to the total business for the year, Mr. Vandewater predicted: "I set my mark at $10,000,000!"

Residential building continues to increase steadily each month according to Mr. Vandewater. He added that the monthly total for this class of construction, including alterations and additions, probably would average not less than half a million dollars a month.

Many New Homes

"In the next ninety days," he exclaimed, "residences will run better than a million and a half!" Glendale is receiving an immense amount of world-wide publicity because of its building activities in the opinion of Mr. Vandewater. He stated that he had recently received inquiries in regard to the subject from three national building trade journals. He believes that write-ups based on this information will appear in the

General Business Conditions Good, Official Report

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Declarations were made in two official quarters that general business conditions throughout the east were nearly normal.

The central and western parts of the United States were said, at the same time, to be making rapid strides towards recovery and the prediction was offered that these sections soon would be in better condition than at any time since the prosperity incident to the war.

Secretary Mellon asserted on returning from his first vacation since he became head of the treasury that the industrial and financial situation in the east appeared "very satisfactory."

The Federal Reserve Board declared in its official monthly bulletin issued later in the day, that active business conditions in every section were shown by the maintenance of a high rate of industrial production.

The bulletin also called attention to the unusually low number of commercial failures reported in February, which, according to its figures, was the smallest since September, 1920.

The total number of failures, the report showed, was forty-four per cent less than in February, 1922, and fifty-four per cent below the record reached in December, 1921, near the height of the deflationary process through which the country went. There was a marked decline in the number of failures in February as compared with January, and incomplete reports for March indicate another reduction.

Some concern has been expressed by government officials recently regarding marked tendencies toward inflation, but these were discounted by the treasury secretary. He said that, while there undoubtedly was some speculation, as is true always, during periods of prosperity and expansion, it need not be considered dangerous.

REAL ESTATE MEN GAIN VICTORY

Amendments to Present Laws Pass Senate; L. A. Sales Win Notice

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News
SACRAMENTO, April 7.—California real estate men won a victory in the senate Thursday afternoon when their amendments to the present real estate license law was passed by a vote of 34 to 3. Little opposition is found to their proposals to standardize the profession.

Frazier O. Reed, president of the California Real Estate association, Glenn D. Willaman, its managing director, and Chris R. Jones of Sacramento, regional vice president, have conducted a systematic campaign of education in the northern part of the state in reference to the legislation which Will Akin of Los Angeles is ably steering through the legislature.

Mr. Willaman finds the central and northern sections of the state on the threshold of renewed activity and one of the bills provides for the certification of large tracts of lands by the state real estate commissioner, it being Mr. Jones' statement that such national magazines as the Saturday Evening Post, Country Gentleman, Literary Digest and others are now refusing legitimate California land advertising for fear of frauds being perpetrated on their readers by unscrupulous dealers, it having happened once.

Certification of property by the state will eliminate such objections, it is claimed.

Many Longing Looks

Millions of dollars now is being invested throughout California in real estate promotion and the state land settlement board officials have pledged co-operation with private subdividers.

Southern California is the cynosure of all eyes, however, and Sacramento realty dealers look longingly at the great sales records being piled up in Los Angeles and particularly Glendale which now is the second city in matter of acreage under subdivision in the state.

"How do you do it?" is their query.

SOUTHLAND FOLK REAL BOOSTERS

Northern Official Declares Right Kind of Spirit South of Tehachapi

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News
CHICO, April 7.—Supervisor Mahan of Butte county told a story at the meeting of the Chico Realty board here last Saturday night that shows the spirit of good fellowship which should prevail between northern and southern California.

"If we were to wake up in the morning and find the residents of Butte county all in Los Angeles and all of the residents of Los Angeles in Butte county, it wouldn't be three years before all of the Los Angeles folks would be millionaires and all of us would be paupers."

"They do things down south. They have the greatest man made country anyone ever laid eyes upon. If we could import a few specimens from the southland into our northland and let them do things for us, why, we would have the population of Glendale 40,000—instead of 15,000."

They Are Boosters.

"The thing I like about Californians from south of Tehachapi, they are boosters. They do not spend their time knocking. That is what we want to learn. And we want to mix our boosting spirit with printer's ink and let the whole world know what we have."

Chico has a great match factory, it has the largest oak tree in the world, it is the center of orchards and farms, and the city boasts a 2600-acre natural park that compares in beauty with the sylvan glades anywhere else in the world.

But F. J. O'Brien, the editor of the Chico Evening Enterprise, struck the keynote when he said the people needed to get behind the projects to settle up the vast ranches in the vicinity. He told of 16,000, 11,000 and 6,000 acre tracts now being subdivided. All that is needed now is publicity.

If Chico were Glendale, it would go get it!

Installation Of Light And Water Meters Sets Another New Record For Glendale!

MARCH was the busiest month in the history of Glendale, according to James F. McIntyre, commercial agent for the public service department.

Over 400 meters were installed during this period in the homes of new arrivals in Glendale. Of the total of 404 meters, 173 were water meters and 231 light meters. This is sixty water meters more than the 113 water meters and seventeen more than the 214 light meters which were installed last March.

Altogether, there are now 7,897 water meters and 9,895 light meters in service. April 1, 1922, there were 6,457 water meters and 7,714 light meters. This means that 1,440 water meters and 2181 light meters have been installed during the past year.

"This has been the heaviest month we have ever had, taking both the light and water meters together," asserted Mr. McIntyre this morning. "Of course, apartment houses and bungalow courts only have one water meter, so we naturally expect light meters to run ahead. And still they come!"

CHURCHES SPENDING BIG SUMS FOR NEW HOMES

About $750,000 Goes Into Buildings and Six Structures Receive Dedication In Two-Year Period of Glendale's Growth

THREE-QUARTERS of a million dollars is being spent during the years 1922 and 1923 for new houses of worship in Glendale. During the two-year period six new churches will be dedicated, representing a total investment of over $775,000. Of this sum, $285,000 represents churches which have been dedicated already, $325,000 represents two churches which are now under construction, and $165,000 represents two churches ground for which will be broken in the near future.

The largest religious investment in this community will be the new plant on the northwest corner of Louise and Harvard streets of the Presbyterian church. This is now under construction and will cost approximately $300,000. Rev. W. E. Edmonds believes that the Sunday school department can be dedicated before the first of October and that the auditorium can be dedicated before Christmas.

THOUGHT AND STUDY ARE ESSENTIALS OF SUCCESS

Rich Reward Reserved for Man Who Makes Careful Preparation for Life Work, Is Claim Of Lon J. Haddock

AT a recent meeting of the Glendale Realty Board and officials of the city of Glendale, Lon J. Haddock, president of the Haddock-Nibley Company of Los Angeles, delivered an address on the subject of "Some Requisites of the Salesman," and The Glendale Evening News has secured a synopsis of the address to present to its readers, as indicating the high ethical standards that characterize the leaders in the realty profession today. Mr. Haddock and his firm are the sub-dividers of Glendale Heights, and they have also acquired the Judge Ross estate, lying in the foothills northeast of Glendale, which will be placed on the market for the homeseekers who are flocking to Glendale in ever increasing numbers.

Selling is the greatest game on earth. In fact, it would not be an exaggeration to designate it perhaps as the highest of all professions. My reason for making this statement is that the salesman is dealing with the greatest variable in the world, namely, human nature in a free state. It is the business of the salesman to influence, for its ultimate good, the mind of the prospect. Such a proceeding necessarily requires study and preparation. Not the haphazard, slap-dash guess work of the order taker, who, without system or intelligent effort, blunders along through life, little better at the finish than he was at the beginning, but careful, painstaking, thought and preparation.

Considering his opportunities, the American of today, ought to be the leading type of manhood. Nowhere in the world are there such opportunities and facilities for the development of the individual as can be found in this wonderful God-given land of ours. Referring particularly to Southern California, may I suggest that, in my judgment, the time is not far distant when man will be rewarded on his merits only. I make mention of this fact because in the past, the environment has been so favorable that men of ready wit and sometimes not so ready in matters of conscience, have been able to take advantage of opportunities and have ploughed through to so-called success. However, with the influx that is now coming in, made up of the best element of the manhood and womanhood of the world, the awards will be more judiciously parcelled out to those who are willing to pay the price. This means that the salesman of tomorrow will not only be better in his knowledge of the underlying principles of salesmanship, but he must be better as a citizen, as a neighbor, and as a man.

Three Vital Parts

If you will observe the phrase salesmanship, which divides itself into three parts, sales-man-ship, you will notice that squarely in the middle, and linking these two extremes, the "sales" and the "ship" stands the Man. He it is who is the dynamo that furnishes power to the entire process. Sales may be of any kind of character, and the ship or vehicle by which the process is conducted may be of any size or shape, but without the man capable of blending these inert forces, business transactions, as such, would soon cease to exist.

The difference in salesmen is as great as the difference in individuals. The reason so many men obtain so little out of life is because they demand little. To the man who is willing to pay the price, the big prizes of life are available. It is not a matter of birth, or station, caste or (Continued on page 3)

BUYERS IN STAMPEDE TO SECURE ROSSMOYNE LOTS

Glendale Homeseekers Will Be Given First Opportunity to Purchase Sites In Old Historic Judge Ross Ranch

RESERVATIONS for lots in Rossmoyne, "The Happyland," the old Ross Ranch, that is being placed on the market by the Haddock-Nibley Company, 215 Hibernian building, Los Angeles, have been pouring into the offices of the firm ever since it became known that the property was to be subdivided, and, according to a statement by Lon J. Haddock, president of the firm, over $200,000 worth of property in the tract has already been reserved by eager purchasers who have long had their eyes on the old Ross ranch, that has figured so long and so prominently in the life of Southern California.

The tract lies for a mile along Glendale avenue, with regular street car service, and is reached either by Glendale avenue or Verdugo road, its southern boundary being Doran street. A magnificent sweep of tree-clad hills rises on each side of the road, affording ideal sites for villas, manor homes, bungalows, where every home owner will have his own private property and where magnificent houses and duplexes will be rigorously excluded. Besides the live oaks and the sycamores, the property is covered by thousands of orange and grapefruit trees, which will be retained by the sub-dividers to beautify and make profitable the lots that will be sold.

Glendale First
It is the plan of the Haddock-Nibley Company to hold back their other announcements till Sunday next, so as to give Glendale investors and home seekers the first selection of the property, as those who have made their homes here know what the old Ross Ranch really is, and have been waiting eagerly for the time when it would be possible to secure a homesite there, no matter how small, among the lavish beauties that nature has spread around this historic site. After next Sunday the property will be sold without any reservations, and even today it is difficult for the firm to withstand the clamorous appeals that are flowing in on them daily, by mail, by telephone and by personal visits, from those who know the tract and who know the manner in which the Haddock-Nibley Company does business.

Workmen have been feverishly engaged in putting the property in shape for the selling campaign, placing signs, staking out lots, laying out the sites for the winding boulevards and roads that will gridiron the tract, but so close on their heels have the buyers followed that it has been almost impossible to accomplish the work allotted to the crews in time for the opening date. Improvements that are to be placed on the property will run over $1,000,000, it is stated, and the work on these improvements is already well under way, and as rapidly as possible.

NATIONAL CONVENTION

A message of greeting and invitation to the realtors of the eighty-two California local boards affiliated with the National Association of Real Estate Boards from national president, L. F. Eppich was made public today by the California Real Estate Association news department. President Eppich expressed a desire to meet all the realtors at the Cleveland national convention, June 27 to June 30, when 10,000 realtors are expected to assemble for the annual reunion.

The Snapdragon
In snapdragons, a large number of new colors, in both the giant, the half dwarf and the dwarf types are offered. The best for the average flower garden is the half dwarf, and some of the new soft colorings with peculiar blendings and blotchings are fascinating. These plants should be started indoors, if possible, although plants sown outdoors as soon as the ground is workable will give bloom by midsummer.

The new American Beauty type of aster caused a furore among aster growers when its huge, long-stemmed October flowers became known. It is of the late blanching type. Now we have a giant form of the popular comet or ostrich feather type coming under the name of California Giants.

California sends another remarkable development in the Giants of California petunias, huge frilled and ruffled beauties of surprising coloring and marking.

The Allwood pinks, a cross between the carnation and the hardy pink of the garden, with the clove scent of the former, will not displace either the annual pink or the old favorite grass pink in the garden, but has a distinct place as a cut flower, being much more lasting than the grass pinks and bearing larger flowers.

The development of an early double type of cosmos is an interesting feature this year. The anemone flowered type, with tufted centers and well defined ray flowers, is offered in separate colors.

There has been a revival of interest in the very early spring blooming Iceland poppies, new varieties of which come to us from England. Miss Gertrude Jekyll, famous as an authority on color in the flower garden, has developed new art shades offered for the first time in the United States this spring. This poppy, although a perennial, blooms the first year from seed. Unlike most of the poppies, it is particularly fine for cutting, the blooms holding together well where other types invariably shed their petals unless cut before the buds expand.

The new heat and drought resisting spinach of Danish origin is called "Antvorskov," or King of Denmark. It is the last spinach to run to seed, outlasting all others while in earliness it compares favorably. It also has a heavy leafage.

The department of agriculture at Washington developed the rust-proof asparagus called "Washington," which is supplanting older strains in regions where rust is prevalent.

Pick out a few husky dandelions and set flowerpots over them. Blanched dandelions make a fine spring salad.

ARTISTIC HOMES DOT FLINTRIDGE

Natural Scenic Beauty at Glendale's Doors Lures Buyers

"A hundred miles from Glendale in fifteen minutes"—that is the way one enthusiastic Glendalean describes Flintridge. This apt description of this famous property will be appreciated by the scores of Glendale people who know and admire Flintridge.

The comparative seclusion Flintridge offers at the very edge of the city makes it uniquely attractive to homeseekers. Rolling hills and vales, groves of great oaks, sycamores and willows, and the rugged beauties of the uplands, present views that are a constant delight to those who are compelled to spend their business hours in town.

Despite its unique location surrounded by natural beauties, Flintridge is just a few minutes' drive from the heart of Glendale. Perhaps that is one of the reasons for its transformation in recent years from a scenic park to a community of artistic homes.

The present activity at Flintridge is centered in the approaching completion of several attractive homes which are to be placed on the market by the Flintridge management. This has been done in anticipation of the strong demand for completed homes ready for occupancy.

The Flintridge model country home continues to attract and charm scores of visitors daily. This little gem is artistically designed and tastefully furnished. It is proving an interesting source of ideas and suggestions to those who are planning new homes of their own.

HADDOCK POINTS WAY TO SUCCESS

Realtor Insists on High Standard of Ethics in Profession

creed, but a matter of how well the individual as such, understands himself. As the poet has said:

"There is no East or West.
Border nor breed nor birth.
When two strong men stand face to face
Though they come from the ends of the earth."

One of the remarkable things of the present is that the older the race grows, the younger its leaders become. The world today is calling for leadership, and is more willing to pay a man ample remuneration for such leadership than it has ever offered.

First Requisite

I would say, then, that the very first requisite of the salesman, or for that matter, for an individual in any line of activity, is self-analysis. "Man, know thyself," is the old Scriptural injunction, that comes ringing down the corridors of time with clarion voice. How much do you know about yourself? This I would submit to every individual here. What do you know about your potential possibilities? What are the factors impeding your progress? Do you know what particular elements are interfering with the success in life that you really desire to obtain? History is replete with instances of great leaders in various lines of human activity, who, in the face of apparent impossible situations and circumstances, have risen to positions of power and prestige in the midst of their fellows. The principle I am endeavoring to emphasize is illustrated in the case of the boy Lincoln. Ask yourself the question, what was it that caused this obscure boy, living in the backwoods of Illinois, lying prostrate upon his stomach on the dirt, to shake the shackles of the called home, figuring up his sums on a shingle by the flickering fire light of the open hearth, to repeat audibly to himself, over and along with other people? In study and prepare and perhaps the time will come.

The time for what? Did this boy see himself the emancipator of millions of human souls, and the Patron Saint of the greatest Republic that man has ever known? Not at all! He had simply discovered the principle that Man is made in the likeness of God. "In the likeness of God, created he him, male and female, created he them." That is the record of the Good Old Book, and if I interpret it right, it means that every man is born with the potential attributes and possibilities of the Deity.

Thoughts Mould Man

The salesman, therefore, owes it to himself, to his community, to his nation and to the world, to be always at his best. Man cannot live clean outside and dirty within. The character of the thoughts a man thinks form the matrix from which the man, himself, is moulded. Arnold Bennett has well said that the two great factors in success are, first, "Run your own brains" and "get along with other people!" In proportion as a man learns to run his own brains, to think for himself, positive, constructive, courageous thoughts; thoughts that will fit him for his particular service to himself and his fellows; the easier will it be for him to carry out the second requirement, namely, to get along with other people.

And after all, it is getting along with other people that makes life worth living. In the game of life hearts are always triumphant. The problem of the salesman has to do primarily with the feelings of human kind and in proportion as we learn to stir up the feelings in others, do we get the response we are seeking.

Two other matters bearing upon the character of the individual are health and personal appearance. Every man and every woman owes it to himself and the world about him to be as healthy and as physically fit as it is possible to become. The laws of health are simple and to the woman or man who is willing and really run their own brains, they will offer little in the way of required effort. Be healthy in body and mind, and in spirit.

Respect By Clothes
With respect to the matter of personal appearance, people judge us very largely by our exterior, and in this respect may I suggest that we are responsible for our clothes because them, we hang on us. A man cannot appear dowdy and slovenly in his appearance and expect to command the same degree of respect and consideration which a neat appearing personality commands.

Self Analysis! Self Analysis! Self Analysis! ! ! This is the suggestion to the man who would really know himself. Study out your strong points. Cultivate and develop them, and eliminate the weak points by the process of substitution. Not by emphasizing the fact that you are going to eliminate whatever factors are making your progress difficult, but by substituting for them progressive, constructive, worthwhile thoughts. "Run your own brains, and get along with other people." Make that your slogan. Try and get the meaning which the poet breathed into the phrase:

"I am the Master of my fate,
I am the Captain of my Soul."
Clean, progressive, constructive, courageous thoughts characterize the worth while man of today, and "maketh his countenance to shine."

Home is just a roof over a good woman.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL SITE PURCHASED

Part Recent Bond Issue Spent on Block at Sparr Heights

Every day brings some interesting development in the affairs of Sparr Heights, the beautiful residential tract on the Verdugo road to the northeast of Glendale and within the limits of this prosperous and fast-growing city.

One of these, of the utmost importance to the owners of homes in the subdivision, is the purchase within the week, of four and one-half acres by the Glendale School Board, an entire block of the tract for the erection of a grade school.

The wisdom of the board is evidenced in that they have realized the present and future value of Sparr Heights and have secured the property for a school center in the most appropriate place, that block just to the northeast of the Community Center building.

The school is one of those for which a bond issue of $500,000 has just been voted. The location of the property is central to the entire neighborhood and the building will be one of the most modern and approved types, while the grounds are so ample that unusual advantages will be afforded the pupils for out of doors sports.

The structure is to be planned by local architects and will be in harmony with the high class improvements of the tract. Its accessibility to transportation by the Glendale-Montrose-La Crescenta car line, as well as by the Verdugo road and the excellent roadways of the tract, was taken into consideration by the board.

High School May Come

Hopes are being cherished by the communities tributary to Sparr Heights that here, in the near future, may be located a union high school. The large and growing attendance upon the Glendale High School by pupils of the surrounding school districts who have no high school facilities in their own neighborhood is one of the arguments used in favor of this idea.

A union high school located at this point, would cut off several miles daily of travel by the pupils attending from the districts to the northeast and at the same time save to the county a large part of the expense which is now incurred in paying for their transportation.

Whether or not this hope of a union high school is realized, the growth of Sparr Heights alone will soon call for high school facilities, and the board of education understands the immense importance to the people it serves of providing educational facilities adequate to the growth of population.

Sparr Heights is located at a point where the traffic of the surrounding communities must flow through it in reaching Glendale and through Glendale, Los Angeles. The Verdugo road, upon which the tract is situated, is the only artery through which this traffic can pass. Its beautiful hills command an outlook over the whole valley, and upon them will be built homes whose view over the golf-links and community buildings, such as the Community Center and school buildings, and to the mountains that lie on three sides of the valley can never be obstructed.

Healthy Children

The children growing up in this environment of beauty, far from the crowded city streets, breathing the pure air of these hills, will always be healthy, and with the opportunities of hiking, riding and picnicking in close vicinity to their homes, should certainly be happy.

It is a common complaint that there is no permanence to the associations made by children in the public schools of a great city on account of the constantly changing domiciles of the pupils. Thus young people are deprived of the pleasure and development that come from long-cherished friendships and permanent social interests.

In Sparr Heights the children, like their elders, will enjoy permanent associations, for the purchasers of home-sites here and the builders of houses upon them are not speculators in real estate, but they are investors in happiness and content who will create lasting homes where they can have advantages afforded by an ideal location and rear their families

D. F. BOWLER NOW SELLING HEIGHTS

Tells of Development Work At Sparr Property; Sales Making Record

D. F. Bowler, Glendale manager of the Sparr Heights development, with offices at 200 East Broadway, announces that he has severed business relations with John L. Bolen, formerly of the firm of Bolen & Bowler.

In making this announcement, Mr. Bowler states that the activity at Sparr Heights has become so intense it has become necessary for him to devote all his attention to this end of the business.

"Improvements and developments are progressing rapidly at Sparr Heights," says Mr. Bowler. "Sales, since the company has been under the management of the Barnum-Walters company, have shown marked strides. The school board has voted to buy a site in Sparr Heights, for $12,600. The Community Building is now well on its way to completion, at a cost of $45,000. And work on the Oakmont Country club will start about the first of the week."

Sales Run High
"This club represents 108 choice acres of our 1500 acre plat, centrally located, offering to every resident of Sparr Heights its unique advantages."

Mr. Bowler reports that sales this week, out of the East Broadway office, ran as high as $10,000 a day. He points out that when the Montrose car line extension down Glendale avenue to Los Angeles is complete, the residents of the Sparr Heights district will have direct access to the city without change, and that very rapid time will be made.

D. F. Bowler comes to Glendale from Spirit Lake, Iowa, where he was a successful subdivision expert, putting on some fine tracts. He is a close personal friend of Mr. Francis, who recently was associated with the Barnum-Walters company, and it was Mr. Francis who brought Mr. Bowler to Glendale.

Sanitarium Site in Heart of Business District Is Going Fast

The formal opening of the Broadway Central Business tract, which is the site of the old Glendale Sanitarium on Broadway in Glendale, will be held tomorrow and judging from the many inquiries that have come in from various sources and the actual reservations that have been made to date, the entire 38 lots in the tract will be disposed of in a few days.

This property, according to Guy M. Rush, is in the midst of the big $2,000,000 building program that is being carried on by those interested in the development of East Broadway. The new Sanitarium being erected at a cost of $600,000, and the new school for which permits totaling as well as the $400,000 hotel at the corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway and the Security Bank building on the corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway are all close to this tract. Numerous other store buildings are under way and these bring the total well over the two million mark, which represents almost two-thirds of the total building activity of Glendale today.

"I have been in close touch with realty conditions in southern California for more than twelve years," says Mr. Rush, "and I have yet to see a greater opportunity for quick profits than is offered the investor in Broadway business property in Glendale and the tract which we are selling for the Glendale Sanitarium is no exception. The prevailing market prices that even greater profits should be made. I expect every lot to be disposed of within ten days."

BUILD HOMES IN NEW WING TRACT

Eighty Per Cent of Lots Are Sold and Number of Houses Going Up

Sales continue to be brisk in the Wing Orange Grove tract on East Colorado street, states Marvin Smith, tract manager. "With over eighty per cent of the lots bought up and eight houses already under construction, five more to start the first of the week, it is not surprising that Wing street is being paved, plans under way to erect a group of brick stores and apartments, we can be said to be reaching the home stretch on this proposition."

In the early days of this tract, about a month ago, we reported several re-sales of Colorado frontage at handsome profits. History is repeating itself. We can now report several new re-sales, particularly of the cheaper lots on Maple street. There are several instances where quick profits of $200 and more have been made, almost before the buyer had completed the purchase.

Purchasers Make Money
"This is a situation that pleases us. We want the public to make money on this tract. They are doing it. The reason they are doing it is because we are offering lots at $1400 and up, hundreds of dollars below the market."

"We are only three blocks from the new high school, and just two blocks from the Broadway grammar school, the car and bus lines, stores and other conveniences. This is close-in property. And never before and never again will close-in property in Glendale sell at these prices."

Maurice Healey, who is associated with Mr. Smith in the selling office at 1200 East Colorado street, owns the northwest corner of the tract, at Adams and Colorado, and is contemplating the erection of five brick stores twenty-five feet wide and sixty feet deep, each to contain a two-apartment upper floor.

Churches Spend Large Amounts for Homes

church, which is being "built for eternity" is an object of interest. It will cover an excavation 140 by 145 feet in size. The Gothic tower, which will rise to a height of 152 feet is expected to alter the skyline of Glendale.

The first of the group of new churches to be dedicated was the new edifice on the southwest corner of Elk and Louise streets of the Holy Family Catholic church. The architecture of this structure follows the lines of the early California missions. A new parish house to the west of the church is now being occupied by Rev. Father James S. O'Neill and his assistant, Rev. Patrick Curran. The cost of the two buildings was about $90,000. They were dedicated September 24, 1922.

The Central Christian church dedicated its new plant on the northeast corner of Louise and Colorado streets July 2, 1922. It represents an investment of about $100,000. The interior of this church is notable for its cheerfulness. Rev. C. A. Cole is a firm believer of the importance of the church in community life.

The Congregational church's new building on the northwest corner of Wilson and Central avenues was dedicated February 25. The architecture of this edifice, which is of the Spanish type, is intended like the Catholic church, to be a permanent monument to California's past history. Rev. C. M. Calderwood is proud of the new plant which represents an investment of about $95,000.

New Baptist Church
A campaign was concluded last Sunday which insures the erection on the northwest corner of Wilson avenue and Maryland street of a new Baptist church. This has been contemplated for some time. It will cost approximately $125,000. Rev. E. E. Ford is earnestly awaiting the completion of the plans.

Plans are now ready for the new Lutheran church and parish house, which is to be built at 231 South Kenwood street at a cost of about $40,000. Dr. H. C. Funk is looking forward to the financial campaign which will make his dream a reality.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance now has a tabernacle under construction on the southeast corner of Louise and Chestnut streets. This will have a base of concrete and a frame superstructure. It will have a large seating capacity. The cost will be about $25,000. Rev. C. H. Christman hopes to dedicate the new building before long.

Glendale has reason to be proud of its churches! It has close to a score of church building and religious organizations, all working for the good of the community.
